Rescue Crew Breaks Into Argonaut Mine Where 47 Miners Are Entombed

Here is the 3600-foot level of the Argonaut gold mine in California where 47 miners were entombed more than three weeks ago.

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Timbering of the opening between the Kennedy and Argonaut mines to prevent a cave-in on the rescuers, who stand ready to enter the Argonaut in which 47 men have been entombed more than three weeks, delayed the federal mine rescue crews from going into the Argonaut, according to the last word telephoned today from the 3600-foot level of the Kennedy.

MRS. HALL TALKS OF MURDER

Slain Rector's Widow Confesses Being Woman Seen in Polo Coat

Says She Went to Church in Search of Missing Husband—Sexton Talks

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Edward W. Hall, whose husband, the rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, and the sexton of the church, were found dead from bullet wounds under an apple tree in a rustic lane of Somerset county on Saturday morning, told detectives yesterday that she was the woman in the polo coat who was seen entering the hall home at 2 o'clock Friday morning, a short time after the police allege, the double murder occurred.

SERIOUSLY INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Anne Newman, aged 12 and residing in Tyngsboro is in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital as a result of an automobile accident which occurred late yesterday afternoon on the Dunstable road in Tyngsboro. The little girl is suffering from internal injuries and although her name has been placed on the dangerous list, some hope is being entertained for her recovery.

The driver of the car, Vezrell Carroll of 64 Crawford street, this city, claims that the little girl ran into the path of his machine and before the car could be stopped one of the front wheels went over her. He placed the child in the machine and rushed to the hospital where it was found that she was suffering from internal injuries. A report of the accident was made at the police station.

Business Dead Because Roads Are Cut and Shipments Impossible

Mr. James Brennan, of 223 Perry st., arrived home last evening after a visit of several months spent with relatives in Roscommon, Ireland. He sailed for Ireland on May 31 and returned on the Tyrone, which landed in New York last week. During his stay in Ireland he had a good opportunity to see much of the guerrilla warfare that has been in progress since the Free State treaty was adopted. In conversation with a Sun representative, Mr. Brennan said that in some parts of Ireland there is a reign of terror created by the gunmen, who go about in disorganized

WILL BUILD BLEACHERY IN COLLINSVILLE

Howard L. Whitley of 80 Livingston avenue, this city, has completed plans for the erection of a new bleacher in Lakeview avenue, near the Beaver Brook mill in Collinsville. The four-story building already has begun and the construction will be rushed to insure occupancy as soon as possible. The building, when finished, will be 200 feet long and two stories high. The number of hands to be employed is not known as yet, but as there is but one bleacher in Lowell at the present time, it is practically certain that Mr. Whitley, who is thoroughly experienced in this line of work, will maintain a large working force.

PLAN BIG CONVENTION

State Police Association Will Hold Annual Meeting in Memorial Auditorium

The 1922 convention of the Massachusetts State Police Association will be held in the Memorial Auditorium in this city, on October 18 and 19. This is but the second time in the history of the association that Lowell has been honored with the annual convention. It being 14 years ago that the delegates assembled in the city.

Patrolman Morgan is at present a member of the executive board and also the legislative committee of the association and is working hard to make the coming gathering the most successful one in police circles. With the beautiful Auditorium available to make the 1922 gathering stand out as the most important in the city and with an array of capable speakers, unequalled at any similar convention, a great deal of communitarian and educational thought will result. Supreme Court Justice Rugg has been extended a special invitation to speak, and it is practically certain that District Attorney Saltonstall and his assistant, James C. Bell, will make timely addresses. Invitations have also been issued to the members of both houses of the legislature, to Supreme Court Justice Lewis and to three former mayors of Lowell—Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, Hon. James E. O'Donnell and Hon. Henry D. Thompson. Judges Enright and Pickman of the Lowell district court will attend as special guests.

Political, social and economic questions pertaining to police matters will be discussed by the several speakers, while the feature talks are expected of Deputy Chief McMurray of Worcester and Albert White of New Bedford. Chief McMurray has established a reputation as an authority on juvenile laws and prospects of changes. He has been very successful in handling youths with criminal tendencies and elevating them to higher and nobler ideals. His experiences will prove beneficial to the delegates. Mr. White is an advanced traffic expert and will deal comprehensively with that phase of police work.

Other speakers of prominence, yet to be announced, will address the body. A banquet will precede the formal

REGISTRATION FOR EVENING HIGH SCHOOL

Registration sessions for the evening high school, which is to open on October 2, will be held on Wednesday of this week. All former pupils of the school are asked to register either on Wednesday or Friday nights. For new pupils the registration books will be opened on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week. All registration hours will be from 7 to 9 o'clock. Former pupils must have their record cards with them. Principal Henry H. Harris requests that all night school pupils enter the school by the Kirk street door of the old high school when they come to register.

British Government Orders All Ammunition Factories to Work 24 Hours at Full Capacity

Horror Over Smyrna Tragedy Fades as Attention Turns to Situation at Constantinople and the Dardanelles—Entire British Atlantic Fleet Ordered to Mediterranean—Britain Determined to Repel Invasion—League Urged to Act to Stop War—Dominions Prepare to Rush Troops Overseas

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The British government has ordered all small arms and ammunition factories in the United Kingdom to work 24 hours at full capacity in preparation for any Turkish eventualities, according to news reaching private sources here today.

PREMIER HUGHES URGES PEACE MOVE

FRENCH DOUBT TURKS SET FIRE

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The report that the Turks started the fire in Smyrna is doubted in French official circles. The following comment on the burning of the city was made in official quarters: "The idea that the burning of Smyrna was caused by the Turks is advanced by certain foreign newspapers. In well-informed circles, it is asserted that there is nothing which justifies this belief, and, on the contrary, a possibility is considered quite unlikely. It is only natural to ask what interest the victorious Turks would have in destroying the city, the possession of which they valued so highly and which they had just taken."

GREAT BRITAIN TO REPEL INVASION

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The horror over the tragedy in Smyrna is losing some of its edge and public attention now is being drawn to the situation in Constantinople and the Dardanelles, menaced by Mustafa Kemal Pasha's victorious army. While the Turks continue to concentrate at Istanbul, Great Britain is taking active steps to repel any invasion of the city.

BIG RALLY TOMORROW

County Association of G. A. R. and W. R. C. will Hold Meetings Here

A notable rally of members of the Middlesex County association of G.A.R. and W.R.C. locals will be held tomorrow, with an all-day program and meetings scheduled for both Memorial hall and the headquarters of Post No. 120, G.A.R., on Central street. The delegates and guests from other associations coming to Lowell will represent nearly every city and town in the county of Middlesex. It is expected to be one of the most important gatherings in the history of the county association in recent years.

Grand Army Veterans are to rally in Memorial hall, while Woman's Relief corps members will meet in Post No. 120 hall. The latter, through special committees, will also provide an old-fashioned farmers' dinner in Post No. 120 banquet hall at noon. Members of all local G.A.R. orders are to handle the reception plans for the coming "vets," while the duties of receiving the visitors from out of town and entertaining all comers, will fall upon the shoulders of a committee of cold corned beef, hot mashed potatoes, spaghetti, beans, vegetables, pickles, cakes, coffee and rolls.

At the morning sessions of the several W.R.C. organizations and G.A.R. posts in separate halls, reports will be read and business for the conduct of the associations transacted. The veterans in Memorial hall are likely to discuss the soldiers' bonus question further and take some decided action. In the afternoon, in Post No. 120 hall, there will be an elaborate entertainment including music, singing and addresses by guests coming from out of town. Arrangements are being made for roll-calls and the usual memorials.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS MEETING

Members of the Benjamin F. Butler W.R.C. will hold their first meeting of the fall season in Memorial hall, Wednesday evening. Luncheon will be served and reports of committees read. Plans are underway for the bazaar to be conducted by W.R.C. members of this organization. It is the Butler corps' first attempt to undertake a large affair of this kind, and various committees are working hard to make it a success.

JUDGE ENRIGHT SAYS "DRUNKEN DRIVERS ARE A MENACE"

Local District Court Justice Says He Would Like to Impose Direct Sentences on Persons Charged With Operating Motor Vehicles While Under the Influence of Liquor

"Drunken drivers are a menace," said Judge Thomas J. Enright in district court this morning. "They are the worst menace on the road," he continued, "and have no regard for other drivers or for pedestrians. They care for no one and drive along the highways in a manner highly dangerous to all peaceful motorists. I wish the superior court had upheld the rulings I made when those cases first appeared for trial. I would still like to impose a direct sentence."

Both men pleaded guilty.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Informal Discussion of Re-location of Roads Discussed at Today's Meeting

The Middlesex county commissioners met in regular session in the court house this morning. A delegation from the town of Chelmsford was present to listen to an informal discussion of the re-location of the old Boston road and Carlisle street which runs through Chelmsford. In order to re-locate the road as proposed, a few land-takings which might entail damages, were shown to the delegation of selectmen and others representing the petitioners. It was decided that the problem of this road, and Dalton road and River Neck road, where re-locations were also petitioned for, be submitted by the selectmen to the townspeople and then referred to the commission at the next meeting, to be held on October 16, in

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES' UNION

Matters of importance were discussed at the recent meeting of the Municipal Employees' union, Local 14, 265. STEAMER KING PHILIP BURNS AT DOCK

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—The fishing season of 1922 is ended so far as the steam King Philip is concerned, for the famous public fishing boat burned early yesterday morning. Her hull is intact, but much for the superstructure is damaged by the flames and water. The police set the loss at $20,000, but Edward Dixon, captain and owner of the boat, states that the figure is too low.

Early yesterday morning the crew were aroused by the sound of the ship's bell. Capt. Dixon, pulman clad, bareheaded and barefooted, was in the pilot house and he rang the bell. Warned of the trouble, the men got their slender damage ashore.

The fire spread with great rapidity and the upper deck was soon a mass of flames. The fire spread to a two-story building alongside the wharf, owned by the Mercantile corporation and occupied by the Boston Scale Repairing Co., Noxon Engine company. All of which suffered loss by fire and water.

The King Philip, which is so badly burned that it cannot be put in repair for next season, is a boat of about 500 tons. It is 150 feet long. All the photographs of big fish and fishing parties, as well as the boat's records, were lost. Ukie a curly poodle well known to the fishermen, was smothered. Walter Hennesberry, one of the crew, was slightly burned.

were drawn up, extensive figures given to show the advantages of tide water power systems, and plans for the building of a monster plant at East Saugus were shown by the stock salesmen and their agents.

The extension of the campaign to obtain subscribers was made to the Lowell district more than a year ago. As late as last spring there was an office on East Merrimack street, where a single salesman was in charge with a desk-full of maps, circulars, stock-subscription blanks and an elaborate array of figures that were offered to show what enormous power—and what cheap power in the bargain—could be obtained through the employment of equipments provided by the Universal company's plans.

There was a thorough canvass made of Lowell and vicinity by stock salesmen, and reports have it that many citizens were induced to put their names down on the salesmen's books. According to flaring announcements and circulars issued by the Universal Tide Power company, it was capitalized for $10,000,000, having secured authority to issue 10,000,000 shares of common stock, par value one dollar per share.

The officers and directors of the company, as shown in its statement filed with the department of public utilities, were as follows:

Universal Tide Power company—John A. Knowlton, president and treasurer, 18 Tremont street, Boston; Mary E. Cantwell, clerk, 14 Tremont street, Boston; Chauncey A. Smith, 21 Hawthorne road, Milton.

The cases of three "power companies" have been before the state department of public utilities for several months and the department engaged the services of an expert hydraulic engineer to investigate the practicability of the machines and plans claimed by the promoters of the companies to have been designed "to harness the power of the tides and of water basins."

In the department decision following an investigation the Universal company, which maintained an office for the sale of stock in Lowell, it is alleged that the company has been trying to sell securities to raise money to complete a hydraulic power plant at East Saugus. "The main purpose of the plant was to utilize power from tides and the main invention to accomplish this purpose is a reservoir or spillway basin so-called. It was hoped through this reservoir to store sufficient water at high tides to enable its utilization at low tides and in this manner to obtain continuous power directly or indirectly through tidal action."

Experts employed by the state department's investigators reported some time ago that the Universal company's "whole process has no commercial possibilities."

It has been admitted by the company that the Saugus plant was only an experimental one. The department finds that while the statements contained in the company's stock-selling literature "may not have been intentionally dishonest, they appear to be representations of relevant and material facts, due at least to gross negligence and predilection as to the future not made in good faith." The department order concerning the Universal company winds up this way:

"Now, therefore, upon consideration of the premises, the commission being of the opinion that the sale of the securities of the said corporation is fraudulent or would result in fraud, hereby makes a finding to that effect and refuses all the requests for rulings submitted by the Universal Tide Power company."

The old offices of the stock-selling forces located on East Merrimack street, were closed some time ago. Whether or not there have been any salesmen in or about Lowell recently, or whether there has been any "headquarters" for the sale of stock in this neighborhood since the East Merrimack street place was closed, could not be learned today.

At the time when the offices were open and fairly flourishing, according to reports circulating at that time, numerous customers' names were down on the stock records as having purchased shares in the Universal company.

JEDRZEJ MORACZEWSKI

Poland's Famous Labor Legislator Will Speak Here This Evening

Organized Polish workers and various Polish progressive groups are busy making preparations to greet one of the most eminent leaders of the political and labor movement in Poland, and its first historic premier, at present vice speaker of the Warsaw constitutional parliament (diet)—Jedrzej Moraczewski, who will speak in Polish hall, corner of Lakeview avenue and Coburn street at 8 o'clock this evening. Jedrzej Moraczewski, who has taken a leading part in Poland's union and labor movement for many years, and who represented the interests of the workers, before the establishment of Poland's independence, in the Austrian parliament, as a deputy from Galicia, may be called Poland's greatest labor legislator.

He is the man who was appointed the first premier of reborn Poland, and under whose three months administration the working class of Poland gained full recognition as the chief factor of the commonwealth.

Moraczewski's "People's Government" was formed November 18, 1918, and after accomplishing the construction of the reborn republic's foundation, resigned two days before the election of the constitutional diet, January 16, 1919.

The task undertaken by Moraczewski's government was immense. One has but to remember that the country, covering 150,000 square miles, was but a few days before ruled by three different despotic powers, that it was devastated by the war, economically exhausted, and the eastern and western boundaries open to invasion by Prussian and Russian hordes.

The internal situation of the war-ridden country was morally deplorable. To govern such a country, with absolutely no resources, and with very little assistance, having an insufficient number of officials was by no means a easy task. Therefore, the accomplishments of Moraczewski's government are remarkable and far reaching. This "People's Government," the popular name given to Moraczewski's cabinet, in the very place, established the authority of the sovereign Polish state, but saved the country from the fate of Russia, by establishing a truly democratic government, by convening a constitutional national assembly (diet) at the same time issuing a proclamation giving Poland the most liberal election laws, applicable also to women. Mr. Moraczewski, who arrived at New York port on S.S. Berengaria, September 1, 1922, will remain in the United States for a few weeks and will visit a number of American industrial centers, especially those largely populated by Polish people, with the object of utilizing observations after his return to Poland to his country's best advantage.

Two ways found

Dental science, after long research, found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise them. Now careful people of some fifty nations employ them, largely by dental advice.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Not film alone

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies the alka-lity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It thus gives manifold effect to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. The result, the world over, is a fast-coming new dental era.

Sensitive Device Maps Ocean Bed

HARVEY C. HAYES

mountain ranges, plains and valleys as well as the dry land itself.

This will be made possible by use of a new sounding device perfected for the United States navy by Harvey C. Hayes, physicist of the naval experiment station here. With this device it will be possible to map the ocean floor as accurately as the geographical survey maps the hills and valleys of the land.

Of more immediate practical use, the instrument enables a navigator to sound the depth of water through which he is passing at full speed. The old laborious method of "heaving the lead" will be abolished.

Radio

Hayes' invention is the outgrowth of experiments conducted during the war on sound-detectors for locating German submarines. In it is embodied a principle of sound detection and amplification that has been developed into its present high state. The vacuum tube amplifier, with its ability to receive the most sensitive sound impulse, plays an important part in the device.

The method of Hayes' system of depth-measuring is that of creating a sound on the ship and receiving its echo from the bottom. Knowing the velocity of sound in water and keeping tabs on the time between the creation of the sound and reception of its echo, the depth can be accurately ascertained.

To assure accuracy, the device has been made so sensitive that the time interval can be recorded to one one-thousandth of a second.

Tests

A series of tests was recently made from Newport to Gibraltar. The outline of the bottom of the sea was minutely recorded. Depths which had never before been fathomed were reached by this device. Another test may be made soon in "Sigsbee's Deep" an unfathomed area in the Gulf of Mexico just north of the Yucatan Peninsula.

Before taking up sound research for the navy department, Hayes was head of the physics department at Swarthmore college. He was one of the three physicists called by the navy during the war to undertake the work of locating German submarines by sound.

His home is at Peterboro, N. H., but he divides his time between the naval experiment stations at New London, Conn., and Annapolis.

NEW WRINKLES FROM RADIO

Radio wrinkles are coming! Watch them when the radio craze resumes this fall.

Two wrinkles have already appeared in the show windows of New York department stores. Lowell may soon see them.

One radio wrinkle is the radio dress. It is made up of radio cloth—short, with a series of "radio waves" running around it.

Another is the radio vanity case. Radio dials form the back of the powder and rouge puff. And the whole case is in the form of a radio receiver.

Before Christmas, it is predicted, more wrinkles will arrive. Then, for the holidays, there will be the greatest display of radio gifts ever brought out.

That is the prediction of New York radio lecturers. In fact, one of them forecasts the sale of more than $30,000,000 worth of radio goods and radio wrinkles during the holiday season.

HEALTH BY RADIO

Foreigners may not understand the public health radio talks made regularly by the United States Public Health Service, but they may profit by them. The Foreign Language Information Service, with headquarters at New York, is co-operating with the public health officials in disseminating its radio talks to the foreign language press of America.

FRANCE AIDS FARMERS

France is helping her country folk become acquainted with modern affairs and equipment. To facilitate this education, the government has bought a large number of radio receiving sets to be distributed to the farmers. They are of the electric light socket type.

RADIO PREVENTS WASTE

Radio will prevent waste in France. From the Eiffel Tower, radio station the government is broadcasting daily price lists on provisions in the Paris market. Thus, farmers will know just what supplies to send to the city.

LOWELL BOYS AT BENTLEY SCHOOL

Several Lowell boys are enrolled as students this year at the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance in Boston, which opened its handsome new quarters this week. This school, now in its sixth year, has had a remarkable growth, having 2194 men enrolled last year, and is now the largest professional school of collegiate grade in the country devoted exclusively to the training of accountants.

The local boys enrolled are: David L. Burke, 284 Stevens st.; Leo E. Dinan, 25 Oliver st.; James G. McKinley, 474 Beacon st.; Hugh J. Rowell, 75 Eighteenth st.; Philip F. Breen, 3 Lyon st.; Jno. M. Gallagher, 135 Chapel st.; Hymen Golden, 282 School st.; Thos. P. McNiff, 29 Bourne st.; Andrew Peverell, 1392 Gorbam st.; Geo. J. Walwood, 10 J. st.; and Matthew C. Ward, 1087 Middlesex st.

DYE STOCKINGS OR SWEATER IN DIAMOND DYES

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to stretch, spot, fade or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.—Adv.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Our Lady's chapel, the new lower church at St. Margaret's, was opened yesterday morning when Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, celebrated the first mass at 9 o'clock for the children. After mass, the Sunday school for the children was organized for the year by the pastor, who was assisted by Rev. William P. Brennan and Rev. Andrew P. O'Brien. The new chapel has been completely remodeled. The walls have been done in quiet tones, new benches have been installed along the small altar erected. A mellow light filters through the frosted glass windows and lights the church thoroughly. The new chapel will be used for the children's masses and Sunday school will be held there after the celebration of the mass.

The 11 o'clock mass at this church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Andrew P. O'Brien. At 8 o'clock, the regular mass was celebrated by Rev. William McCauley of Ottawa, Canada. At the same hour, the first mass was read in the new chapel by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, for the children. The 6 and 7:30 o'clock masses were read by Rev. William P. Brennan.

At the 3:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday morning, which was celebrated by Rev. D. J. Heffernan, who was assisted at communion by Rev. Peter T. Lincum, the boys' sodalities received communion.

A body of Rev. John M. Aulon was the celebrant of the parish mass at 11 o'clock. The fall session of the Sunday school was opened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Tonight, the Holy Name sodality will hold a meeting and on Wednesday night, the Married Ladies' sodality will convene. On Thursday night, the Society for the Propagation of the Faith will hold its meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. William P. Haley, O.M.I., celebrated the 11 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning. The announcements were read by Rev. Martin Norton, O.M.I. The Third Order of St. Francis received communion in a body at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Patrick J. Hally, the pastor, celebrated the 10:30 o'clock mass at St. Columba's church yesterday morning. Rev. James M. Somers was the celebrant at the 7:30 and 9 o'clock masses. Sunday school was resumed yesterday and vespers were held in the evening at 7:30.

Memorials will be observed in all the Catholic churches the coming week, on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

A largely attended meeting of the members of Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality of St. Joseph's parish was held yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph's church. A sermon was delivered by the spiritual director, Rev. Armand Barron, O.M.I., and appropriate hymns were sung by the choir under the direction of Miss Lena B. Camire, who also presided at the organ. The meeting was brought to a close with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The annual retreat for the members of the Holy Angel Guardian sodality will open at St. Jean Baptiste church next Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock. Exercises will also be held Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday morning there will be a mass with sermon at 8 o'clock. Sunday morning, the members of the sodality will receive communion in a body.

Next Sunday, the monthly communion for the members of St. Anne's sodality and the Sacred Heart league will be held at the 7 o'clock mass, at St. Jean Baptiste church.

Are You Buying "Terms" or Furniture?

Ever since our first year in the furniture business, 33 years ago, when we saw a canvasser start out every morning with a wagon load of "chromos" (high color print pictures) and come back in the middle of the afternoon all sold out at $3.50 apiece, 25 cents down and 25 cents a week, when we were selling the same picture for 95 cents at a fair profit, we knew that there were plenty of people that would

Buy the Moon for $10,000

$1.00 DOWN AND $1.00 PER WEEK

These are the people that go to Boston and buy their furniture and get exploited. Someone asked us if this series of ads. about trading in Boston were "sour grapes." We answered "no." That we were attacking an evil that is bringing disrepute on an honorable business. And our ads. have been very effective. Notwithstanding the lower prices of all Furniture, Stoves and Carpeting, and the many people out of work, our business is many thousands of dollars ahead of last year. We consider this phenomenal and we take just pride in it. Again, lately we got customers who had been to Boston and bought $468.00 worth to cancel their order when they found they could buy, as they declared themselves, better goods here for $315.00. We know a party who bought $2500 worth in Boston; no doubt we could have sold him the same goods or better for $1500. That's the trade we are after and are getting. All we want is a chance to show them. You will find our terms easy enough, not perhaps as easy as they advertise, but as easy as they will "give" you.

MILLS REOPENED AT PAWTUCKET

Five Plants Closed for Eight Months by Textile Strike Resume Operations

20 Per cent Wage Cut Announced Last January Restored Today

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 18.—After being closed for eight months by the textile strike the Lincoln Bleachery and four cotton mills in Pawtucket, Berkeley and Ashton, were reopened today, the Lonsdale Co. having restored the 20 per cent wage cut announced last January.

In Berkeley and Ashton, the operatives, many of whom had given up positions in other mills in the state to return to their old work, marched through the gates in a body and were assigned to their places, but in the two mills in Lonsdale, the operatives had to pass through the offices of the number four and Ann and Hope mills where those needed were selected by the overseers and sent to work. Others were turned away, but were told their services would probably be required in a few days as it was necessary to start up the mills in sections. About 3000 are employed in these mills.

The Crown Manufacturing Co. started on a 20 per cent increase in wages today but continued the 54-hour week schedule. Labor leaders advised the strikers not to return until a 48-hour week was granted and most of them headed the advice.

The Crown Manufacturing Co. announced a 10 per cent wage increase but few strikers took advantage of the offer today.

The bleachery and mills controlled by the Lonsdale Co. are working on a 48-hour schedule.

HIGHLAND DAYLIGHTS CHAMPIONS OF THE MERRIMACK VALLEY

Lowell Entry Triumphs Over Lawrence K. of C. in Inter-City Championship Series—Won Second and Final Game Saturday by Score of 7 to 2

After a series of postponements, the second and final game of the inter-city title between the Highland Daylights of Lowell and the K. of C. of Lawrence, was played last Saturday afternoon at O'Sullivan park, Lawrence, and resulted in a 7 to 2 victory for the local Twilight League champions, giving them undisputed title to the coveted championship of the Merrimack valley for the season of 1922.

Dolan Pitched a Great Game

It was a close and interesting game up to the eighth inning when the Lowell batters sewed up the game.

LOUIS LORD, Manager of Champions

and began to embellish it with five well-earned runs after events had remained at an impasse during the preliminary innings. Billy Higgins, regarded as the super ace of Lawrence twirlers, was in the box for the Knights, but four two-base hits, a triple and seven singles, scattered in his hands his inability to check the hard-hitting Lowellites. In hitting respects, Freeman and Bridgford each connected with the ball, while Henry Sullivan's bludgeoning sent out the longest bludge of the afternoon, a three racker to deep left field.

Brilliant Stunt by Delaney

Phil Dolan looked good to Manager Lord in practice and was assigned the pitching. In the fourth inning, Dolan in real action, holding the Lawrence batters to six hits and sending up an assortment of baffling curves and a few fast ones, which simply couldn't see. The fielding feature of the game emanated from the strong left arm of right fielder Delaney, who intercepted and by a quick throw, pitched the ball into home plate. The speed and uncanny accuracy of the throw surprised anyone who ever seen on the O'Sullivan park diamond, and the throw was awarded a great reception as he walked to the bench.

Presentations Before Game

Prior to the commencement of activities, Announcer Ben Keaveney stepped forward and presented Mayor Mahoney of Lawrence, who awarded various prizes, donated by well-known Lawrence business firms, to the winners of the different contests conducted throughout the season. Harry Trow of the Smith and Dave Trow, for the best batting average, was awarded a silver loving cup; Buster Lacey, who pitched the first inter-city game for the K. of C., was awarded a $20 gold piece for the best pitching average; Delaney of the Knights and Joseph of the Buffaloes were the first to be honored and in a long up, Driscoll won. The mayor then proceeded to the pitcher's box and threw the first ball of the game to Commissioner Michael Scanton. It was a perfect strike and the game was on.

Freeman Opens With Double

Freeman, first up, walked the second ball pitched to left field for two bases and scored on Bridgford's hit of similar proportions to right. The latter went to third while Greenfield was being thrown out at first, but remained there when Smith was retired in like manner. For the "Casey's," Dolan reeled first when Smith doubled his grander. Higgins whiffed.

but Delaney put one through Crowe which allowed Conlon to score with the tying tally.

The Daylights threatened in the third. Williams bled out to Higgins after which Bridgford was given a base on balls and he went to second when Greenfield was hit by a pitched ball. Smith sent up a Texas leaguer in back of third and the sacks were loaded. Crowe hit to Bradley at third who threw home to Sullivan for the expiration of Delaney's and Marquette eased the minds of Lawrence's fudom by rolling out at first. Dean to D. Smith.

Lawrence Takes Lead

"The Casey's" went one ahead in the fourth and maintained that advantage until the seventh. Smith walked for a starter and completed the circuit when Janotke sacrificed. Williams to Greenfield. As Williams was out of position, nobody covered third and Greenfield threw to the uncovered sack and Smith romped home. Lowell tied it up in the lucky run. Freeman walked in safety but Delaney's third theft when he stole second and third with phantom-like rapidity. Williams walked and entered to second by third. It was at this juncture that Delaney did his feature act. Bridgford drove out a sharp single and Freeman and Williams started with the crack. Freeman succeeded in carrying the ball to safety but Delaney's perfect kick nipped Williams. The tying run was scored, however, and the game took on a more favorable aspect for Mr. Lord's renters.

Lowell Wins Out in Eighth

The game went by the boards in the eighth five runs being scored when the smoke of battle cleared. Marquette doubled to the sun, territory in left and scored on H. Sullivan's triple. Dolan slashed another double to left, and which the batters were watching. Smith accounted for four more runs and the game, as the Knights roared sorrowful steps to the dug-out after their last appearance at bat. The score:

MEMORIES OF THE GAME

The crowd was not as large as at the Centralville-K. of C. game a year ago.

Freeman and his day with three hits and three stolen bases.

"Long John" pulled a lucky hit in the third when he homered a Texas leaguer over Bradley's head.

Delaney's throw was a beauty.

Higgins did not live up to expectations. The Daylights rather picked on him in the eighth.

Williams pulled a classy catch in the third when he caught a long foul near left third base ideachers after a hard run.

Like the Daylights, Lawrence has a Sullivan and a Smith. They are not related.

In the course of the game a call was sent to the field for Manager Henry Sullivan. He should have waited to see the burial of the Knights.

Henry Sullivan was a little off in his

COMING WORLD'S SERIES BEST 4 OUT OF 7 RACES AT GOLDEN COVE COLUMBUS DAY

The world series of 1922 will consist of seven games.

In 1919 the world series, which had always been a seven-game test, was changed to a nine-game affair.

Unfortunately the first year of the nine-game series was featured by the baseball scandal in which a number of Chicago American league players were concerned.

In 1920 the series went only seven games because Cleveland, after winning the first game and losing the next two, went four in succession.

Last year the two New York clubs went eight games before the Giants succeeded in winning the necessary five.

Slump in Attendance

It is a very interesting and unusual fact that the attendance in the final and deciding game of the 1921 series was the smallest of the entire eight games.

Nearly 37,000 people saw the seventh game while only a few more than 25,000 were present at the deciding contest. That was the big surprise. It made it appear as if a nine-game series was a bit too long drawn out.

When the national compilation went to make games instead of seven the last year's game was merely good on the part of the magnates that caused the shift.

Plans Only Laughed

The argument that it would give more people a chance to see the series was scoffed at. The feeling was that the added two games were simply another bit of commercialism on the part of the club owners.

When the attendance fell off so badly in the final game last year, which was the eighth of the series, it must have decided Judge Landis in favor of a seven-game series.

Looked Like a Surebet

It made it appear as if the fans were sure to attend in great numbers. The argument was advanced that since all the games were played in New York it wasn't a fair test for the longer series. Going back to seven games, however, will win the favor of a great many fans, since it will make them feel that money, after all, is not bigger than the game.

GIRL OUT FOR NEW SWIMMING RECORDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Gertrude Ederle, 15 year old aquatic sensation of the Women's Swimming association of New York, will seek to establish new world records at 150, 200 and 400 yards in a specially arranged event in the Brighton Beach Pool, Sept. 26.

Miss Ederle, who recently set six new world records in one event, at distances of 300 to 500 meters, demonstrated Saturday in an exhibition that she is prepared for the speed test by making 100 yards in one minute, 1-1/2 seconds, only four-fifths of a second slower than the world's record held by Miss Ethelinda Bellamy.

Her first swim was a 100 yard dash. He threw skyward twice to second. His lucky triple in the event of length more than repaid for the error.

Both Bradley and Williams, rival third basemen, nipped hard hit line drives.

Keegan, in left for the Knights, seemed to be bothered with the sun. He nudged a couple and dropped another.

The K. of C. management objected to the use of Delaney in the Daylight lineup. He did not play as a result.

Bob Gantry was in uniform and coached the boys in his customary fashion.

Ben Keaveney made an ideal announcement. His loud voice carried to every section of the field.

The grounds were in perfect shape despite the rain of the night before. A pity Lowell has not such a diamond.

Hubert and Mulino warmed up before the game. They weren't needed, however, as Dolan was never in serious danger.

The umpiring was C. K. Brady of Lowell worked on the Lines and Lunch of Lawrence behind the bat.

Who will be the champs of 1923?

MORAN FOOLS CRITICS WITH HIS CINCI REDS

That Moran became manager of the Phillies in 1916, succeeding Charley Doolin, who had piloted the club to sixth place in 1914.

Moran won the National league pennant with the Phillies in '15, steered them into second place in 1916 and 1917, fell to sixth place in 1918 and was fired.

Then he moved to Cincinnati, replacing Christy Mathewson, who had brought the Reds into third place in 1918.

Again he signalled his first year as manager of a team by winning the flag for Cincinnati in 1919. And again he started slipping after winning a championship, falling to third place in 1920 and sixth place in 1921.

"Moran is a one-year manager," many close followers of baseball then said.

LOWELL IN NEW POLO LEAGUE

Awarded Franchise in National Roller Polo League, Organized Yesterday

Worcester, New Bedford, Providence, Nashua and Portland in Circuit

Lowell was awarded a franchise in the National Roller Polo League, which was organized at a meeting held at the Copley Square hotel, Boston, yesterday afternoon.

The other cities to receive franchises were Worcester, New Bedford, Providence, Nashua, N. H., and Portland, Me. Each franchise will be owned by an individual and no man in the league will control or hold an interest in any other club.

While a definite date was selected to open the season it was tentatively agreed to start some time the latter part of next month the date to be fixed at the next meeting of the league, which will be held in Boston on Sunday, Oct. 1.

The meeting opened at 2 o'clock and it continued well into the evening and the veteran polo promoter who attended declared it was one of the most enthusiastic and productive ever held in connection with the game.

Each city included in the circuit was represented by at least one man and during the protracted session each took an active part in the deliberations. It was voted that the teams be tentatively selected, with the view of equalizing them as well as possible, but not to announce the selections until the men assigned to the various teams had been signed up for the season.

In the meantime the team owners will get in touch with the players and offer them contracts. It is expected that the teams will be ready to start the next meeting or in permanent lineups will be made up and announced.

The election of officers brought about the unanimous choice of William P. Cronin of Worcester, the survivor of the original American Roller Polo league as president. John E. Miller of New Bedford, who has been connected with polo for three years, was elected vice president.

William D. Perrin of Providence, veteran secretary of the Morris Sullivan of Lowell was named treasurer. The franchises were awarded to the following: Worcester to William P. Cronin, Providence to James Graham, Portland to James Graham, Nashua to C. P. Dodge, and Portland to William H. Joseph E. Sullivan.

Many Old Aces Gone

Hod Eller, Jimmy Ring, Dutch Rether, Sam Salter and Ray Fisher, his pitcher since 1919, all are gone. So is Heinie Groh, his third sacker and captain; Larry Kopf, his shortstop; Morris Riden, his second basemen; and Bill Raden, his other catcher; Jake Daubert, first basemen, and Alolfo Luque, pitcher.

Moran's Own Discoveries

Dopelone, now the most difficult pitcher in the league to defeat, was taken right from Texas Christian university. He will return this fall as a sophomore. He was taken off the lots of Utah. Bohne came from the Pacific Coast league and George I. Hargrave from the American association.

These changes all made good last year and to them this year were added George I. Hargrave, Western league outfielder; Jimmy Caverly and Ray Hargrave, Coast league infielders; Johnny Couch, Coast league pitcher, and Cactus Keck, Western association hurler.

Very Strong Team

A few lesser lights from the minors also were taken on and have been retained for minor roles, but this year's harvest of Donohue, Keck, Couch, Hargrave, Bohne, Fonseca, Miller, Caverly, Hargrave, added to Wingo, Luque, Daubert, Rether, Cronin, Burns and Rixey, has made the Reds an exceedingly strong team.

FINAL GAME OF CRUCIAL SERIES

POINT OF ORDER RAISED ON TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Whether the tariff bill would again be thrown into conference depended on the ruling to be made today on the point of order to which the conference report on the measure was submitted by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, democratic leader in the tariff fight, when it was called up in the senate Saturday. Should the point of order not be sustained it was expected that final legislative action on the bill would come late today or tomorrow.

Senator Cummins, republican, Iowa, as president pro tempore, had had under advisement since recess of the senate Saturday, the question raised in Senator Simmons' contention that the tariff conference had exceeded their authority by proposing authority for the president to declare American valuations on the basis of an ad valorem duty assessment on any item in the bill.

YOUTH IS HELD FOR SHOOTING STEPMOTHER

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 18.—William Coburn, a high school student, arrested in Portsmouth, yesterday after his stepmother had been shot while she lay in bed at her home, here, was arraigned in police court today charged with assault with intent to kill. His case was continued until Oct. 3, and he was held without bonds. Mrs. Coburn was said to be seriously hurt, but the hospital authorities refused to make any statement regarding her injuries. The shooting was understood to have followed a quarrel between the boy and his stepmother, several days ago.

London Alarmed

Continued
The neutral territory along the straits, and has called upon Jugoslavia and Rumania, as well as her own dominions, for aid.

France is understood, however, to favor moral persuasion rather than force in maintaining the international character of the straits. Italy, too, is against relying entirely on this form of defense. It is declared. Aside from general concurrence that the neutrality of the straits must be maintained, the opinion of the London press is much divided over the British government's policy.

The Times thinks diplomatic action would suffice to solve the difficulty if the Kemalists were convinced that Great Britain and France would act together. The newspaper condemns the policy followed by both governments since the armistice, and is especially severe with "the laxity of the British rulers, through whose inaptitude, ignorance and vanity, a very real danger has been brought upon the nation."

The Morning Post, sharply scolding the government, says Great Britain has had enough of war, especially of unnecessary war, and that in order to secure peace, it must get rid of Lloyd George.

The Daily News violently attacks the government's policy for the last three years, which policy "has brought us to the verge of another European catastrophe, and trilled British prestige in the dust."

The Daily Herald declares that "not a man, not a ship, not a gun" ought to be provided for new military adventures, and urges that the whole matter be referred to the League of Nations.

Elsewhere the government's pronouncement of policy meets with more support. The Daily Telegraph, while hoping for an early settlement through a conference, is glad to have assurance that the government is taking the military measures which may prove necessary and expresses satisfaction with the little entente having the opportunity to join in the defense of the straits. The Westminster Gazette says: "It is quite certain the allies cannot regain control of the situation unless they are ready to fight it necessary, and unless they convince the Turks of this."

The newspaper urges the holding of a conference at which the allies must "make and enforce their own peace with the Turks—not merely the Greeks' peace."

The Daily Chronicle, giving its voice for the conference, thinks the meeting cannot be called for some weeks and that meanwhile the Turks are likely to seize every scrap of ground they can for bargaining purposes.

The Daily Express applauds the steps the government is taking and predicts that if Mustafa Kemal tries to cross the straits he will meet with complete disaster.

YANKEE SAILORS SAVED 450 ORPHANS

SMYRNA, Sept. 18.—(By Associated Press) Smyrna, which the Turks have called a vast republic, is a vast republic of ashes; only the shattered walls of 25,000 homes and the charred bodies of countless victims remain to tell the story of death and destruction unexplained in modern history.

The ruins are still smoldering; no effort has been made by the Turks to remove the dead and dying; the streets are full of the bodies, for the most part women and children.

Every building in the Armenian quarter has been burned, with the dead lying about the bay, which covers an area of 50 acres, still curling on its surface the poor remnants of those who were massacred or sought to escape the waterfront of the foe.

On the waterfront crutch thousands of survivors, who fear death at the hands of the soldiery; there are no boats to take them off.

Rescue 450 Under Eyes of Turks

One ship captain declined to take any of the wretched survivors, but, in contrast to his indifference, Captain Walters of the American steamer Winona rescued 1800 and took them to Phoenix.

American sailors of the destroyer Jettfield snatched 450 orphaned boys from the pier and carried them safely to Constantinople. The jack tars slept on the iron decks or under starboard tubes while the youngsters occupied the bulkheads.

While the orphans were being loaded on the Jettfield, H. C. Jaquith, director of near east relief, who came here recently from Constantinople, diverted the attention of the Turkish guards, giving them cigars and talking to them in their native tongue.

These guards are under strictest orders not to permit the escape of any of the Greek or Armenian refugees, and on several occasions have shot to death fugitives endeavoring to reach outlying vessels by swimming.

Out of 300,800 Christians crowding the city prior to the descent of the Turks, only 60,000 have been evacuated.

Komunist officials have informed the American relief workers that the return of the Christians to the interior meant certain death.

The director of the Armenian orphanage, established by the American committee for relief in the near east, committed suicide by drowning.

Dr. McLaughlin, president of the American college, was severely beaten by Turkish irregulars and his clothes and money seized. He lived in the suburbs of Paradise, seat of the college, and was taken aboard the British dreadnought Iron Duke. He attributes his escape from death to the fact that he can speak Turkish and worked a ruse on the Turks.

BRITISH WARSHIPS RUSH TO SCENE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The entire British Atlantic fleet is being sent to reinforce the Mediterranean squadron for the protection of Constantinople and the Straits of Dardanelles.

This undoubtedly will create the most formidable armada of warships ever assembled in an area of like size, embracing the most modern dreadnaughts, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers.

British officials here feel confident that if the allied land forces are not sufficient to check an attack on the Dardanelles by the Turkish nationalists, the combined fleet, together with French and Italian war vessels, will be more than adequate.

There is an increased feeling of security among the population of Constantinople as a result of Great Britain's energetic measures.

The allied commanders here are meeting today under the presidency of Brig. Gen. Sir Charles Harrington to discuss measures for the defense of the capital and the straits. The meeting is expected to bring out the complete unity of the British, French and Italian forces.

It is now ascertained that only 20,000 Greek soldiers remain under arms out of the army of 250,000. These are in Thrace, retention of which territory by Greece is seriously doubted here.

INTERVENTION BY LEAGUE URGED

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The intervention of the League of Nations to stop the war in Asia Minor and relieve the distress of refugees was proposed in the assembly of the League of Nations today by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, high commissioner of the international commission for Russian relief.

Dr. Nansen informed the assembly he had received a telegram from his delegate in Constantinople asking him to use his influence to use the League's authority to use the League's resources in helping refugees from Asia Minor. He asked the privilege of offering a resolution to the effect that the council of the League authorize immediately the use of the relief organization for that purpose, at the same time examining under what conditions it could intervene to end hostilities.

The assembly received both proposals.

POINCARÉ CONSIDERS BRITISH NOTE

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press).—Premier Poincaré, returning from a week-end in the country, began immediate consideration today of the long and important note issued last Saturday, calling upon the allied and Balkan powers to unite for military action against any Turkish move on the straits of the Dardanelles.

While not taking the view expressed by most of the French newspapers that the British note was "distinctly warlike" and "dangerous" in tone, it was emphasized at the Quai d'Orsay that Premier Poincaré's eastern policy was decidedly "peaceful" and does not contemplate the use of military force.

The French premier is keenly desirous of playing the role of mediator in the near eastern crisis between the conflicting interests rather than joining forces with Great Britain in an out-and-out policy of opposition to the Turks, well-informed circles close to the premier say.

There is no question as yet of sending more French troops to the zone of the Straits. It was said in official circles. France now has between 6000 and 8000 soldiers within the zone.

It is believed to be not improbable that Premier Poincaré will make it known in some way that the French and British policies differ, as regards the unofficial British note.

CONDEMNS DE VALERA

Archbishop Curley Says No

True American Should Aid

Cause of Irregulars

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Most Rev. Michael P. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore, declared on his return from Europe yesterday on the Celtic, that "No American true to American principles should be one moment countenance the work of Eamon de Valera as head of the irregular troops in Ireland."

"They are bent on destruction and the bringing about of chaos in Ireland," the archbishop said, referring to de Valera and his followers. "They have no constructive program and can have none, because they, as a small minority, are fighting, burning and wrecking Ireland as far as they can."

"The worst feature of the situation," the archbishop concluded, "is that de Valera and his wreckers are receiving help from supposed friends of Ireland in America. No American true to American principles should for one moment countenance the present armed attack on the Irish people now being made by a disappointed set of men."

WIFE MAY REGISTER HER MAIDEN NAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The right of a married woman to retain and register her maiden name, has been recognized by the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The ruling was made when Doris E. Fleischman, bride of Edward J. Bernays, so entered her name at the hotel register. The management directed that the word "Mrs." be inserted, in some such way as "John Jones and wife, Jane Smith."

Mr. Brennan spoke in terms of sadness of the ghastly destruction wrought in the city of Cork as well as in Dublin, Limerick and in fact all over the west of Ireland, where the destruction of such splendid buildings as Gars Castle and the blowing up of bridges is creating havoc that can never be repaired and that will entail enormous loss upon the country and surely remain for generations as a financial burden upon the people.

Rescuers Enter Argonaut Mine LONDON ALARMED OVER NEW WAR

Rescue Crew Breaks Into Argonaut Mine Where 47 Miners Are Entombed

3600-FOOT LEVEL OF THE ARGONAUT GOLD MINE WHERE 47 MINERS WERE ENTOMBED

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Timbering of the opening between the Kennedy and Argonaut mines to prevent a cave-in on the rescuers, who stand ready to enter the Argonaut in which 47 men have been entombed more than three weeks, delayed the federal mine rescue crews from going into the Argonaut, according to the last word telephoned today from the 3600-foot level of the Kennedy.

Engineers at the mouth of the mine said at least 24 hours would be required before the first body of a rescued miner could be brought to the surface. The first day may be required for exploration work before any bodies are found, it was said.

Apparatus teams of four men each headed by a captain, were ready to then take place of the mud-covered drilling crews. The first team ready to crawl through the opening made into the Argonaut was headed by Rodney B. Rogers of the United States National Guard.

TIDE POWER STOCKS BARRED

Public Utilities Commission Acts Under the "Blue Sky" Law

Commission Declares it Finds Motors Devoid of Commercial Possibilities

The state department of public utilities has handed down a decision barring the sale of all securities of the Universal Tide Power company in Massachusetts. The department expresses the opinion that the sale of the securities of this company "is fraudulent or would result in fraud," and made a formal finding to that effect, under the "blue sky" law.

In acting against the so-called Universal Tide Power company, the state department has also barred the future sale of all securities of two other concerns that have been disposing of large quantities of stocks to the public. They are the Fossan Hydraulic Power company and the Damiano Tide Water Power company, both having Boston addresses.

The campaign of stock-selling which began months ago in Massachusetts cities and towns by the Universal Tide Power company, was an energetic one from start to finish. Elaborate maps

State Police Association Will Hold Annual Meeting in Memorial Auditorium

The 1922 convention of the Massachusetts Police Association will be held in the new Memorial Auditorium this city, on October 18 and 19. This is but the second time in the history of the association that Lowell has been honored with the annual convention, it being 14 years ago that the delegates assembled here.

According to Edward J. Flanagan, of the local police department, who is chairman of the convention committee, about 250 delegates are expected.

WILL BUILD BLEACHERY IN COLLINSVILLE

Howard J. Whitley of 80 Livingston avenue, this city, has completed plans for the erection of a new bleachers in Lakeview avenue, near the Beaver Brook mill in Collinsville. The foundation work already has begun and the construction will be rushed to insure occupancy as soon as possible. The building, when finished, will be 200 feet long and two stories high. The number of bleachers to be employed is not known as yet, but as there is but one bleachers in Lowell at the present time, it is practically certain that Mr. Whitley, who is thoroughly experienced in this line of work, will maintain a large working force.

PREMIER HUGHES URGES PEACE MOVE

FRENCH DOUBT TURKS SET FIRE

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The report that the Turks started the fire in Smyrna is doubted in French official circles. The following comment on the burning of the city was made in official quarters: "The idea that the burning of Smyrna was caused by the Turks is advanced by certain foreign newspapers, in well-informed circles. It is asserted that there is nothing which justifies this belief, and, on the contrary, such a possibility is considered quite unlikely. It is only natural to ask what interest the victorious Turks would have in destroying the city, the possession of which they valued so highly and which they had just retaken."

ARMENIANS SEND APPEAL TO HARDING

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—The Armenian National Union of America in a telegram to President Harding today, bespoke aid for the people of the United States who are threatened by the extermination of all Christians, Armenians and Greeks.

PRESS DIVIDED ON BRITISH POLICY

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The afternoon press continued divided on the British policy. London's streets are plastered with up with posters and advertisements saying: "Read about the new war!" "Stop the new war!" "The new war is a column editorial entitled: "Stop this new war," the text of which begins: "The country is taxed already to the bottom of its pocket and has no money for a new war. That hard fact with the further one that the government's proposed new war is not proved necessary, accounts for the instant and vigorous condemnation which the cabinet's statement aroused on Saturday."

The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe declare that if London and Paris show themselves to be of one mind the Turks will never dare attempt to take over the Straits or enter Europe.

The Evening Standard asserts that the great need is for a common policy in which France and England shall concur with complete loyalty.

The Evening Star says "the eastern situation has been made sensibly more grave by the blundering ill-adviced statement issued by or for the government on Saturday. This, it declares, has infuriated the French, provoked the Turks, encouraged the Greeks and has appeared only to mislead sentiment and sheer jingoism at home and in the dominions."

WESTERN THRACE AS BUFFER STATE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The organization of western Thrace as a buffer state between Turkey and Bulgaria, Greece and even Jugo-Slavia is looked upon by the highest quarters in the Bulgarian government as a solution of the Balkan situation created by the Turkish victory in Asia Minor and the difficulties which might arise from a return of the Turks to the European side of the straits.

ASKS NUMBER OF AMERICANS MISSING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Rear-Admiral Bristol, American high commissioner at Constantinople, was requested today by the state department for specific information as to the number of American citizens, native or naturalized, in need of relief as the result of the reoccupation of Smyrna by Turkish forces.

Admiral Bristol last week reported that 14 naturalized Americans from the colony in Smyrna were missing, but has not mentioned this matter since and the department asked just how many naturalized Americans were still unaccounted for. Officials are inclined to believe that the 14 reported missing probably left the city with relatives before the Turkish forces entered.

The department also asked Admiral Bristol as to the number of native Americans remaining in Smyrna. It has been estimated that from 50 to 60 American business men or missionaries were in the city at the time of the Turkish occupation and no definite advice as to how many of these left the city or as to those selected to remain have been received.

War department orders today detached Major Sherman Miles, held at Fort Sill and assigned him as American military attaché at Constantinople on the staff of Rear Admiral Bristol.

GREAT BRITAIN TO REPEL INVASION

JUDGE ENRIGHT SAYS "DRUNKEN DRIVERS ARE A MENACE"

Local District Court Justice Says He Would Like to Impose Direct Sentences on Persons Charged With Operating Motor Vehicles While Under the Influence of Liquor

"Drunken drivers are a menace," said Judge Thomas J. Enright in district court this morning. "They are the worst menace on the road," he continued, "and have no regard for other drivers or for pedestrians. They care for no one and drive along the highways in a manner highly dangerous to all peaceful motorists. I wish the superior court had upheld the rulings I made when these cases first appeared when I imposed direct sentences not have so many today. However, that court ruled that unless some one was injured, a direct sentence could not be imposed. I would still like to impose a direct sentence."

These remarks were caused by the appearance of Andrew Blanchard in court charged with drunkenness and driving a machine while under the influence of liquor. He pleaded guilty to both charges. Disposition of the case was deferred to Sept. 25.

STEAMER KING PHILIP BURNS AT DOCK

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—The fishing season of 1922 is ended so far as the team King Philip is concerned, for the famous public fishing boat burned early yesterday morning. Her hull is intact, but much for the superstructure is ruined and the engines also were damaged by the flames and water. The police set the loss at $20,000, but Edward Dixon, captain and owner of the boat, states that the figure is too low.

Early yesterday morning the crew were aroused by the sound of the ship's bell. Capt. Dixon, pajama clad, bareheaded and barefooted, was in the pilot house and rang the bell. Warned of the trouble, the men got their slippers and damage ashore.

The fire spread with great rapidity and the upper deck was soon a mass of flames. The fire spread to a two-story building alongside the wharf, owned by the Mercantile corporation and occupied by the Boston Scuba Repairing Co., Noxon Engine company, all of which suffered loss by fire and water.

The King Philip, which is so badly burned that it cannot be put in repair or next season, is a boat of about 500 tons. It is 150 feet long. All the photographs of big fish and fishing parties, as well as the boat's records, were lost. Ukle a curly poodle well known to the fishermen, was smothered. Walter Jennesberry, one of the crew, was lightly burned.

Ironized Yeast Gives the Stomach Natural Digestive Power!

There's one organ in the human body that "kicks back" when it gets weak, and that's the stomach. No stomach on earth can operate without vitamins-and-iron. The same thing is true about the nerves. There is hardly anything that can happen to the nervous system that is not at once reflected to the stomach. Weak nerves wreck stomach! Nature has only one answer: more vitamins ironized! But remember that Ironized Yeast is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. This is why Ironized Yeast produces almost immediate results in cases of loss of appetite, aversion to food, belching, gas on the stomach, fermentation, "lump-of-lead" feeling after eating, dyspepsia, indigestion. There is only one Ironized Yeast in the world: it contains yeast, vitamins-with-organic-iron, the very natural food-power which every strong stomach and every strong nervous system possesses. The answer is ironized vitamin-iron-yeast. Ironized Yeast is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 60 tablets. Each tablet contains 60 tablets. They never lose their power. Get Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga. Take Ironized Yeast, and you'll enjoy eating, and digest thoroughly everything you eat. That's life!

were drawn up, extensive figures given to show the advantages of tide water power systems, and plans for the building of a monster plant at East Saugus were shown by the stock

salesmen and their agents. The extension of the campaign to obtain subscribers was made to the Lowell district more than a year ago. As late as last spring there was an office on East Merrimack street, where a single salesman was in charge with a desk-full of maps, circulars, stock subscription blanks and an elaborate array of figures that were offered to show what enormous power—and what cheap power in the bargain—could be obtained through the employment of equipments provided by the Universal company's plan.

There was a thorough canvass made of Lowell and vicinity by stock salesmen, and reports have it that many citizens were induced to put their names down on the salesmen's books. According to flaring announcements and circulars issued by the Universal Tide Power company, it was capitalized for $10,000,000, having secured authority to issue 10,000,000 shares of common stock, par value one dollar per share.

The officers and directors of the company, as shown in its statement filed with the department of public utilities, were as follows:—

Universal Tide Power company—John A. Knowlton, president and treasurer, 18 Prescott street, Boston; Mary E. Cartwright, clerk, 14 Tracost street, Boston; Chauncey E. Smith, 27 Hawthorne road, Milton.

The cases of three "power companies" have been before the state department of public utilities for several months and the department engaged the services of an expert hydraulic engineer to investigate the practicability of the machines and plans claimed by the promoters of the companies to have been designed "to harness the power of the tides and of water basins."

In the department decision following an investigation of the Universal company, which maintained an office for the sale of stock in Lowell, it is alleged that the company has been trying to sell securities to raise money to complete a hydraulic power plant at East Saugus. The main purpose of the plant was to utilize power from tides and the main invention to accomplish this purpose is a reservoir or aplyway basin so-called. It was hoped through this reservoir to store sufficient water at low tides and in this manner to obtain continuous power directly or indirectly through tidal action.

Experts employed by the state department's investigators reported some time ago that the Universal company's "whole process has no commercial possibilities."

It has been admitted by the company that the Saugus plant was only an experimental one. The department finds that while the statements contained in the company's stock-selling literature "may not have been intentionally dishonest, they appear to be representations of relevant and material facts, due, at least, to gross negligence and predictions as to the future not made in good faith." The department order concerning the Universal company winds up this way:

"Now, therefore, upon consideration of the premises, the commission being of the opinion that the sale of the securities of the said corporation is fraudulent or would result in fraud, hereby makes a finding to that effect and refuses all the requests for rulings submitted by the Universal Tide Power company."

The old offices of the stock-selling forces located on East Merrimack street, were closed some time ago. Whether or not there have been any salesmen in or about Lowell recently, or whether there has been any "head-quarters" for the sale of stock in this neighborhood since the East Merrimack street place was closed, could not be learned today.

At the time when the offices were open and fairly flourishing, according to reports circulating at that time, numerous customers' names were down on the stock records as having purchased shares in the Universal company.

JEDRZEJ MORACZEWSKI

Poland's Famous Labor Legislator Will Speak Here This Evening

Organized Polish workers and various Polish progressive groups are busy making preparations to greet one of the most eminent leaders of the political and labor movement in Poland, and its first historic premier, at present vice speaker of the Warsaw constitutional parliament (diet)—Jedrzej Moraczewski, who will speak in Polish hall, corner of Lakeview avenue and Coburn street at 8 o'clock this evening.

Jedrzej Moraczewski, who has taken a leading part in Poland's union and labor movement for many years, and who represented the interests of the workers, before the establishment of Poland's independence, in the Austrian parliament, as a deputy from Galicia, may be called Poland's greatest labor legislator.

He is the man who was appointed the first premier of reborn Poland, and under whose three months administration the working class of Poland gained full recognition as the chief factor of the commonwealth.

Moraczewski's "People's Government" was formed November 15, 1918, and after accomplishing the construction of the reborn republic's foundation, resigned ten days before the election of the constitutional diet, January 16, 1919.

The task undertaken by Moraczewski's government was immense. One has but to remember that the country, covering 100,000 square miles, was but a few days before ruled by three different despotic powers, that it was devastated by the war, economically exhausted, and the eastern and western boundaries open to invasion by Prussian and Russian hordes.

The internal situation of the war-ridden country was morally deplorable. To govern such a country, with almost no resources, and with very little assistance, having an insufficient number of officials was by no means a heavy task. Therefore, the accomplishments of Moraczewski's government are remarkable and far reaching.

This "People's Government," the popular name given to Moraczewski's cabinet, in the very place, established the authority of the sovereign Polish state, but saved the country from the fate of Russia, by establishing a truly democratic government and convoking a constitutional national assembly (diet), at the same time issuing a proclamation giving Poland the most liberal election laws, applicable also to women. Mr. Moraczewski, who arrived at New York port on S.S. Berengaria, September 1, 1922, will remain in the United States for a few weeks and will visit a number of American industrial centers, especially those largely populated by Polish people, with the object of utilizing observations after his return to Poland to his country's best advantage.

Dainty People

Now combat that film on teeth

Have you noted how many people now have whiter, prettier teeth? You see them wherever you look. The reason lies in a new cleaning method which millions now employ. If you don't know it, you should try it now.

Film is dingy

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. That film absorbs stains, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat film. So, under old methods beautiful teeth were less often seen than today. And tooth troubles, mainly caused by film, became almost universal.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They,

with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So nothing is more important to teeth than combating the film daily.

Two ways found

Dental science, after long research, found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise them. Now careful people of some fifty nations employ them, largely by dental advice.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Not film alone

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalilinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It thus gives manifold effect to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. The result, the world over, is a fast-coming new dental era.

Tell your child

You want your children to endeavor to avoid the troubles that you suffered. Then tell them of Pepsodent, show them its effects. Dentists now urge that children use it from the time the first tooth appears.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

That test will be a revelation. It will convince you that you and yours need this new-day method. Cut out the coupon now.

CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH OBSERVANCE

After 35 years of success and prosperity the Centralville M. E. church is this week celebrating its founding with services and exercises especially arranged for the occasion. Social gatherings and religious meetings have been held to attract many former members to the edifice.

The first part of the anniversary services were held last Friday night when a musical program of unusual merit was given by the church choir and an address delivered by Rev. E. S. Taylor, a former pastor. His topic was "The Relation of the Church to the Kingdom."

On Saturday the younger members of the parish gathered on the 12th street playground for an afternoon of athletic sports. Volley ball, liberty ball and baseball were played and a number of foot races were held for both boys and girls. Badges were given as prizes to the winners of the various events.

At 6:30 o'clock a supper was served in the vestry of the church to which all members of the parish were invited. Remarks were made by Rev. William Hammond of Newfield, N. H., who was the second pastor of the church, by Rev. W. F. Preston, also a former pastor, and Russell Fox, chairman of the arrangements committee, who presided at the after dinner exercises.

Yesterday morning Rev. Dillon Brown preached the sermon at the religious exercises. His topic was "Do We Need the Church?" Last night Rev. George H. Spencer, former secretary of the Massachusetts Bible society, was the speaker.

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of most importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite of sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER
$10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A generous mail was the result. But there was one who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 84th birthday, and will again decide $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to be one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

FIELD DAY BIG SUCCESS

Bunting Park Scene of First Field Day by British-American Band

The British American Brass band has every reason to feel elated at the success of its first field day, which was held at Bunting Park Saturday afternoon. Although the organization is a comparatively new one in the city and only a short while was given over to planning the affair, nearly 500 members of the band, with their friends gathered for the frolic.

As was planned, the affair was little more than a field day, but the long list of events, and the time it took to run them off produced a wonderful afternoon's sport for those assembled. Added to a list of athletic events, the band gave a number of prepared numbers after which dancing on the green was enjoyed by many. The dancing was held before and after the sports program.

The advance delegation arrived shortly after noon and many parties took to the shady spots around the grounds for light lunches. During the afternoon lunches were served on the grounds and in the club house. The ladies of the organization maintained refreshment tables which were well patronized by the guests.

A most successful drive was made for new band members and the results were most gratifying to the committee in charge of the affair. It is not necessary to be a musician to join the organization and many who are not musically inclined joined the ranks. Many good times are planned by the band committee and those who took in the affair Saturday were well pleased with everything connected with it. The sports program produced barrels of fun and quite a bit of lively competition. The judges were H. Clayton, C. Hopwood, D. Houghton and W. Pomfret, while the starter was W. S. Dawson. These men acted as sort of a general committee.

The band leaders to tender its sincere thanks to all the following ladies and gentlemen for the prizes they so kindly donated: Mrs. Vina Prantiss (milliner), Mrs. J. Royds, Mrs. C. Hopwood, Dr. J. B. A. Johnson, Dr. Lamson, Mr. Edw. Freeman (jeweler), Mr. Collett (watchmaker), Mr. F. Conroy (jeweler), Mr. Ray Webster (druggist), Mr. Beckrand (furniture dealer), Mr. J. Royds, Mr. Ashworth, Mr. C. Hopwood, Mr. W. S. Dawson, Mr. P. Partridge, Mr. R. McMillan, Mr. D. Houghton, Mr. G. Tibbott, Mr. R. Houghton, Mr. F. Scott, Mr. R. Nuttall, Mr. U. Curtis, Mr. C. E. Crockett, Mr. Killyer and a friend.

The events, prizes and winners are as follows: 50 yards race for girls under 14 years, 1st prize, silver pen, won by Edith Garside; second prize, box of hairbrushes, won by Edith Ellis.

100 yards dash for boys under 14 years, 1st prize pocket Ben watch, won by Alfred Clegg; second prize, jack-knife, won by Milage Raynaley.

Sack race, 50 yards, 1st prize, watch fob, won by Albert Garside; second prize, safety razor, won by J. Clegg.

Shipping rope contest for girls over 14 years, 1st prize, pearl beads, won by Bessie Taylor; second prize, green beads, won by Margaret Ellis.

100 yards race for men: 1st prize, watch fob, won by Joseph Sweeney; second prize, fountain pen, won by Charles Dowry.

50 yards race for married women: 1st prize, order for a hat, won by Mrs. Houghton; second prize, preserving bottle, won by Mrs. Macfarlane.

Fat men's race, minimum 170 pounds: 1st prize, one live fowl, won by Sam Wood; second prize, Duplex safety razor, won by Mr. Atkinson.

Toil throwing contest for ladies: 1st prize, hand mirror, won by Mable Collins; second prize, pocket watch, won by Margaret Ellis.

Three-legged race for boys, prizes, orders for two pairs of sneakers, won by Macfarlane and Macfarlane.

400 yards race for men: 1st prize, box of cigars, won by Flynn; second prize, pipe and tobacco, won by Sweeney.

Obstacle race, prizes, belts, won by Flynn and Hanson.

50 yards obstacle race for band members only: 1st prize, safety razor, won by James MacBride; second prize, fountain pen, won by James Royen.

MECHANICS PHALANX

Sensitive Device Maps Ocean Bed

HARVEY C. HAYES

By N.E.A. Service.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 15.—Ocean depths no longer will hold their secrets.

Within a few years the world will know the contour of the undersea mountain ranges, plains and valleys as well as the dry land itself.

This will be made possible by use of a new sounding device perfected for the United States navy by Harvey C. Hayes, physicist of the naval experiment station here.

With this device it will be possible to map the ocean floor as accurately as the geographical survey maps the hills and valleys of the land.

Of more immediate practical use, the instrument enables a navigator to sound the depth of water through which he is passing at full speed. The old laborious method of "heaving the lead" will be abolished.

Radio

Hayes' invention is the outgrowth of experiments conducted during the war on sound detectors for locating German submarines. In it is embodied a principle of sound detection and amplification that has developed radio to its present high state. The vacuum tube amplifier, with its ability to receive the most sensitive sound impulse, plays an important part in this device.

The method of Hayes' system of depth-measuring is that of creating a sound on the ship and receiving its echo from the bottom. Knowing the velocity of sound in water and keeping tab on the time between the creation of the sound and reception of its echo, the depth can be accurately ascertained.

To assure accuracy, the device has been made so sensitive that the time interval can be recorded to one one-thousandth of a second.

Tests

A series of tests was recently made from Newport to Gibraltar. The outline of the bottom of the sea was minutely recorded. Depths which had never before been fathomed were reached by this device. Another test, made soon in "Sigsbee's Deep," an unfathomed area in the Gulf of Mexico just north of the Yucatan Peninsula.

Before taking up sound research for the navy department, Hayes was head of the physics department at Swarthmore college. He was one of the three physicists called by the navy during the war to undertake the work of locating German submarines by sound.

His home is at Peterboro, N. H., but he divides his time between the naval experiment stations at New London, Conn., and Annapolis.

NEW WRINKLES FROM RADIO

Radio wrinkles are coming!

Watch for them when the radio craze resumes this fall.

Two wrinkles have already appeared in the show windows of New York department stores. Lowell may soon see them.

One radio wrinkle is the radio dress.

It is made up of radio cloth—short, with a series of "radio waves" running across it.

Another is the radio vanity case.

Radio dials form the back of the powder and rouge puffs. And the whole case is in the form of a radio receiver.

Before Christmas, it is predicted, more wrinkles will arrive. Then, for the holidays, there will be the great outpouring of radio gifts over brought out.

That is the prediction of New York radio leaders. In fact, one of the forecasts of the radio is that $30,000,000 worth of radio goods and radio wrinkles during the holiday season.

HEALTH BY RADIO

Foreigners may not understand the public health radio talks made regularly by the United States Public Health Service, but they may profit by them.

The Foreign Language Information Service, with headquarters at New York, is co-operating with the public health officials in disseminating its radio talks to the foreign language press of America.

FRANCE AIDS FARMERS

France is helping her country folk become acquainted with a new type of radio and equipment. To facilitate this education, the government has bought a large number of radio receiving sets to be distributed to the farmers. They are of the electric light socket type.

RADIO PREVENTS WASTE

Radio will prevent waste in France. From the Eiffel Tower, radio stations the government is bringing daily price lists on provisions in the Paris market. Thus, farmers will know just what supplies to send to the city.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Our Lady's chapel, the new lower church of St. Margaret's, was opened yesterday morning when Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, celebrated the first mass at 9 o'clock for the children. After mass, the Sunday school for the children was organized for the year by the pastor, who was assisted by Rev. William F. O'Donnell and Rev. Andrew F. O'Brien.

The new chapel has been completely remodelled. At 9 o'clock, the regular mass was celebrated by Rev. William F. O'Donnell, of Ottawa, Canada.

At the same hour, the first mass was read in a new chapel by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, for the children. The 5 and 7:30 o'clock masses were read by Rev. William F. O'Donnell.

The 8:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday morning, which was celebrated by Rev. D. J. Heffernan, who was assisted at communion by Rev. Peter T. Linehan, the boys' sodalities received communion in a body.

Rev. John M. Mantion was the celebrant of the parish mass at 11 o'clock. The fall session of the Sunday school was opened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Tonight, the Holy Name sodality will hold a meeting and on Wednesday night the Married Ladies' sodality will convene.

On Thursday night, the Society for the Propagation of the Faith will hold its meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. William P. Haley, O.M.I., celebrated the 11 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning. The announcements were read by Rev. Martin Norton, O.M.I.

The Third Order of St. Francis received communion in a body at 7 o'clock.

MILLS REOPENED AT PAWTUCKET

Five Plants Closed for Eight Months by Textile Strike Resume Operations

20 Per cent Wage Cut Announced Last January Restored Today

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 18.—After being closed for eight months by the textile strike the Lincoln Bleachery and four cotton mills in Pawtucket, Berkeley and Ashton, were reopened today, the Lonsdale Co. having restored the 20 per cent wage cut announced last January.

In Berkeley and Ashton, the operatives, many of whom had given up positions in other mills in the state to return to their old work, marched through the gates in a body and were assigned to their places, but in the two mills in Lonsdale, the operatives had to pass through the offices of the number four and Ann and Hope mills where those needed were selected by the overseers and sent to work. Others were turned away, but were told their services would probably be required in a few days as it was necessary to start up the mills in sections. About 3000 are employed in these mills.

The Jencks Spaulding Co. started on a 20 per cent increase in wages today but continued the 54-hour week schedule. Labor leaders advised the strikers not to return until a 48-hour week was granted and most of them heeded the advice.

The Crown Manufacturing Co. announced a 10 per cent wage increase but few strikers took advantage of the offer today.

The bleachery and mills controlled by the Lonsdale Co. are working on a 48-hour schedule.

Are You Buying "Terms" or Furniture?

Ever since our first year in the furniture business, 33 years ago, when we saw a canvasser start out every morning with a wagon load of "chromos" (high color print pictures) and come back in the middle of the afternoon all sold out at $3.50 apiece, 25 cents down and 25 cents a week, when we were selling the same picture for 95 cents at a fair profit, we knew that there were plenty of people that would

Buy the Moon for $10,000 $1.00 DOWN AND $1.00 PER WEEK

These are the people that go to Boston and buy their furniture and get exploited. Someone asked us if this series of ads. about trading in Boston were "sour grapes." We answered "no." That we were attacking an evil that is bringing disrepute on an honorable business. And our ads. have been very effective. Notwithstanding the lower prices of all Furniture, Stoves and Carpeting, and the many people out of work, our business is many thousands of dollars ahead of last year. We consider this phenomenal and we take just pride in it. Again, lately we got customers who had been to Boston and bought $468.00 worth to cancel their order when they found they could buy, as they declared themselves, better goods here for $315.00. We know a party who bought $2500 worth in Boston; no doubt we could have sold him the same goods or better for $1500. That's the trade we are after and are getting. All we want is a chance to show them. You will find our terms easy enough, not perhaps as easy as they advertise, but as easy as they will "give" you.

CENSORSHIP OF PICTURES

One of the questions to be submitted to the people at the next election is, whether we shall have state censorship of moving pictures. Had this question been submitted two years ago, it would probably have been decided in the affirmative. It is a fact, however, that since then a very remarkable change has come upon public sentiment in regard to the censorship of moving pictures. This change, we believe, is the result of an improvement in the pictures, through the elimination of the sex features as well as the portrayal of crimes, both of which aroused indignation and brought support to the movement for state censorship. It may be, that the mere threat of such censorship has brought about the desired reform, and if so, it is well then to give the producers a chance to make good their claim that they will furnish nothing that is reasonably objectionable, nothing that is indecent, suggestive or indecorous. Besides, the producers have engaged former Secretary Hays as general director of the moving picture business, with full power to decide what is proper and what improper to present to the public in the theatres of the country. We believe that it is only right to give Mr. Hays a chance to show what he can do in lifting this great invention to a higher plane of instructive and entertaining value. Already he has accomplished considerable in this direction, and he is making steady progress towards higher ideals. The next great step will be to utilize the movies in certain lines of instruction in school and college. It is a notable fact that many have escaped the attention of many in connection with our new high school, that an outfit for producing moving pictures is part of the equipment. The movies are admirably adapted for conveying certain lines of information and for illustrating geography, history and physics.

Not the least objection to state censorship of moving pictures is the difficulty of enforcing such a law. The principle involved is practically the same as that on which the freedom of the press is based. Newspapers are free to publish anything they please within the limits of the law, and the producers of moving pictures should be given the same freedom, subject only to what is forbidden by law. In order, therefore, to prevent the presentation of pictures that may be suggestive, obscene or immoral, the law should be very specific. This, in our opinion, is where much of the evil complained of may be remedied.

State censorship would be expensive and it would offer various temptations of grafting, an evil which is already too prevalent. It would be a serious interference with the moving picture business if the producers were absolutely forbidden to present any film in public without first having secured the approval of some official authority who might have no hesitation in asserting his petty authority in a very offensive manner. For these and other reasons we feel that for the present the question of state censorship should be indefinitely postponed; and that object will be attained by voting "No" on the question relative to state censorship which will be among the referenda on ballot at the state election.

GEN. WOOD'S RETURN

We learn from Philippine sources that Gen. Leonard Wood is to return to America some time in January. Already plans are being arranged for the proper committees to receive him with signal honors. You hear reports of political organizations "getting busy" to welcome the doughty general, whose administration of government affairs in the far off islands has been highly praised in many quarters during the past six months or more.

Gen. Wood was really sent to the Philippines to take charge of affairs there, although he went across the Pacific listed as "special commissioner" sent by President Harding to pacify the islands and promote their prosperity. We have no doubt Gen. Wood has performed the tasks assigned to him faithfully. A real economic collapse threatened the islands as he sailed for Manila. The outstanding achievement of Gen. Wood's administration has been the rehabilitation of the currency system and the downward revision of the budget, whereby nearly 26,000,000 pesos (nearly $10,000,000) was saved to the treasury, and the dispersal of a strongly entrenched political oligarchy.

Gen. Wood is also said to have cleaned the judiciary and expedited the work of the courts, besides establishing efficiency in the civil service. Through his initiative, it is claimed that measures have also been taken for the eradication of leprosy from the islands, and there has been excellent work performed by American agencies bearing on sanitation, hygiene and agriculture.

It is well known that General Wood has still the ambition to be president, and although he was defeated in the contest for the nomination, he will probably be in the fight again next year. The country would probably have fared better had it chosen General Wood, but either he or certain interests in his behalf set out to capture the nomination by the use of money and the publicity given the scheme, instantly turned public sentiment against the general, his money and his candidacy.

PASSING THE BONUS BUCK

With the coming of election day will come the question as to whether the republican majority will be cut down as a result of republican failure. The tariff bill is at hand. It will become law in a week or two and then the cost of living will begin to advance. It is true, that the people will not have an opportunity to see its real effect before going to the polls. But the inference will be irresistible that the new tariff provides special privileges for the predatory interests at the expense of the consuming masses.

As to whether President Harding will veto the bonus bill there can be no real certainty until he has actually disposed of the measure. It is a well known fact that the president has a strange weakness for changing his mind on such matters overnight. This was indicated by his campaign speeches, and equally so by his action since his election. It was shown during the tariff debates when senators had to call him up on the telephone every morning to ascertain whether he had changed his attitude on the tariff during the previous night. He has promised not to sign the bonus bill, and the senators presuming that he will keep his word, have passed the measure to be voted, knowing that it would have no chance of passing over the veto.

This passing of the buck, however, by the senate and congress will be put forward as a fulfillment of the party pledges and if the veto comes, then the onus of the defeated bonus will be planked on Harding's shoulders.

NEW WAR MENACE

With the destruction of Smyrna in an orgy of savagery perhaps never exceeded in downright cold-blooded lust and atrocity, comes a new menace to the peace of Europe and of the world. The forces of Kemal Pasha now drunk with their bloody triumph over Greece and their destruction of Smyrna threaten the neutralized territory of Constantinople and a return of the Moslem hordes to Europe which would mean control of the Dardanelles and probably a combination with the soviet forces of Russia under an arrangement by which the soviet government would have free passage to the Mediterranean.

There is here a menace that must necessarily bring the leading European powers to a sense of their common danger and cause them to unite against this new peril instead of again flying at one another's throats. At least England, France, Italy, Greece and Yugoslavia will combine to check the movement of the Turks to Constantinople where they would entrench themselves so strongly that they could not be dislodged except by the destruction of the city.

WOOD-ALCOHOL

Wayne Wheeler, head publisher for John Barleycorn, says 35,000,000 gallons of wood-alcohol a year are used in American manufacturing. It is the only deadly poison easily obtained.

Wheeler, speaking to the Chemical Exposition in New York city, urged the wood-alcohol makers to put "Poison" labels, with skull-and-crossbones, on every container of this liquid death.

More effective—and it will have to come in time—would be to make the sale of wood-alcohol in beverages punishable by imprisonment at hard labor for at least 20 years. The bootlegger who serves wood-alcohol commits premeditated murder. It may be true that some sell it as pure alcohol, but vendors of alcohol even among the bootleggers, would be more cautious if the penalty for selling this drug were, as it should be, as severe as that for administering the most deadly poison with murderous intent.

CROSSING HAZARDS

Certain railroads of the country are engaged in a "careful crossing campaign" in which they observe how autoists drive over unattended crossings. On two days in July, observations were made at 300 crossings, over which passed a total of 305,000 automobiles, and of this number the drivers of more than half made no observation as to whether a train was approaching in any direction; about 25,000 slowed down to a speed of 20 miles per hour. The others dived on as if wholly unaware of their passing over a railroad crossing. Is it any wonder that auto accidents are so frequent at railroad crossings? For some time the warning "Stop, Look and Listen" has no significance.

FORD

Henry Ford will fire any employee whose breath even smells of liquor. Ford lends the country in efficiency methods and he knows that the man who has been drinking is neither safe nor efficient. College professors say Ford is an ignorant man, and so he may be, probably is, so far as book-learning is concerned; but he knows how to run a factory, how to coordinate his forces to get the best results, something that very few professors know anything about. Ford is the most practical man in the country and the average college professor probably the most impractical.

Attorney veteran, 30 years old, has decided to join a G.A.I. post to prevent its losing its rolls. Still the same old fighting spirit that never dies.

Twenty-five survivors of the old 31st Massachusetts regiment of Civil War fame still uphold its honor—and every man has faith in the United States.

The Newberry and Ford voters appear to be riding in the same car, but without any regular drivers.

Of course there are one hundred and thirty-seven thousand children who went to their seats at the opening of schools in Boston Wednesday, were just as happy as were their teachers.

Industrial news in the Bay State is said to be "very encouraging." It is certainly costing the people of Massachusetts enough money to find out that fact anyway.

And some of the defeated candidates are blaming the lost forces—meaning the stiff railroad that hit the city on primary day, probably.

SEEN AND HEARD

Only a man with money to burn can afford freewater.

First six days in August a Maine duck laid seven eggs even though labor day was a holiday.

One wall flower tells us that when it comes to blooming she must be a century plant.

A Thought

It is the business of anybody who can, to not right what anybody has set wrong.—Anon.

Today's Word

Today's word is—ports. It means the government of the Turkish, or Ottoman, empire, called officially and in full "the sultan's palace gates." The word was administered anciently. It comes from "French" ports, gate or door. It's used like this—"Although Kemal Pasha's suggestions against the Greeks are favorable to Turkish arms, they are not necessarily favorable to the sultan's port, since the Kemalists' ambitions are of a nature which the port may not find it convenient to gratify."

Poor Advertising

The futurist painter was visiting the house of his only patron. "Oh, by the way," said his host, "did you hear about the burglary here the other night?" "No. Did they get much?" "No. Not as much as they might have. A couple of clocks, some silver and—you know that picture I've just bought from you?" "Did they?" cried the delighted artist. "My picture's model! This is just the advertisement I've been looking for for years!" "And went off with the frame!" concluded his patron sadly.

The Burned Door

When a man applied for settlement of a claim for fire insurance the agent asked, "How much damage?" "Not much," the man said, "just a door." "How much would a new door cost?" "About $100," said the man. "Did the door happen?" The man hesitated a moment, and then replied: "About 30 years ago." "And you have waited all these years before reporting it?" "Yes, sir." "Why?" "Well, sir," said the man, "the woman I fell in love with has been at me to do something about that door ever since it was burned, and I just couldn't stand it any longer."

He Was Disappointed

The compartment of an express train in England contained two passengers—a dear old lady and a little boy. Suddenly the train plunged into a tunnel—the compartment was in darkness. The old lady heard the carriage door open and close, the train emerged and the small boy was nowhere to be seen. She jumped to her feet and made for the communication door, but as she raised her hand she saw a small foot peeping from beneath the seat. "You little wretch! You screamed. You might have sent me in a fit!" The small boy crawled out and showed his knuckles to his eyes. "Yes, mum," he sobbed, in bitter disappointment. "You little lady I did it last Monday did have a fit!"

The New Life

There is a new life beating at a breast Of life's dear love, and little hands in quest Of unknown nothings, while ten new-born feet Are kicking vainly beneath the clothes. There is a sleeping baby in the world tonight, Bringing love's lamp with a burning light.

Oh, the little stranger, without name or guess Of any name that sounds like weariness— You are so weak and yet with strength so rare As on your mother's bosom you reel, You make the world with a fancies fair, And make its little meanings seem divine. Yet, that matters in not afterwards, Nor what may be, nor what you grow to be, But just the present with its baby's little fingers groping and the thought Of all the conscious parenthood you've brought. And all the tenderness and love and grief.

100,000 FORD EMPLOYEES IDLE; PLANTS CLOSED

DETROIT, Sept. 18. (By the Associated Press.)—An industrial army of more than 100,000 today entered a period of idleness and the munitions Ford Motor Co. plants were deserted, except for caretakers, for the first time in months.

As many of the idle factory workers were seeking new jobs Henry Ford renewed his efforts to solve his fuel problem. His thinking, he maintained, was to obtain fuel at what he considered a reasonable price. To accept coal at prices quoted him, Mr. Ford previously had declared, would be a "submission to profiteers."

Edsel B. Ford, president of the company, voiced the hope that a way out of the fuel difficulty might soon be found.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell is experiencing a real building boom. The situation has changed wholly from the condition a few years ago, when now building operations were low and far between and contractors and builders were reeling on their arms, so to speak. I met a man yesterday, who left Lowell last April for a trip around the country. He only returned a week ago, and swore solemnly that he "wouldn't know old Lowell." I asked him what the matter was. He replied, enthusiastically: "Say, the old town is waking up, for a fact! I hit Middlesex street last week and the number of new building operations on that street alone. This year is worth recording for a starter. Coming up the line I hit Paige street. Why, I felt completely lost. A look up that thoroughfare last spring and you would think it was a street in Connors or some quiet village far away. That was about six months ago. Stand at the corner of Paige and Bridge streets today and look toward the high school corner planning a course at both ends of the old thoroughfare and nothing but the new buildings going up, or old buildings renovated, and honestly, you would hardly know the street of 12 months ago."

Over in Acton, Arthur Armstrong, a well known milk farmer has a neat herd of Jersey cows that bring him in a good deal of fine quality milk during the year—milk that meets a very high test. Last week he told me that he was planning to exhibit one of his top-notch Jersey at the Acton fair, expecting to secure a blue ribbon on his fine qualities. The neighbor knew that Arthur had named most of his cows, and asked what he called this prize Jersey. "I named it but this one after important countries," said Arthur, leading the long Jersey down into the grading pasture. "Why not name this one after the United States, then?" asked the visitor. "After the U.S.A.," said Arthur indignantly. "Do you think I want that cow to go dry on me?"

The "Busy Six" and also the "Big Six" were some of the popular appellations for the six railroads of the Chicago rail conference. Of course all local railroad men and shop workers are acquainted with Brothers Henderson, Gorman, Readson, Cleary, Stevens and McMillan, who performed their part in good style as was to have been expected. Last week the leaders of the crafts had no desire for the present to discuss the Chicago meeting after reading the meagre reports contained in the newspaper dispatches. Nothing definite was really known for some time, but the Chicago meeting, and 48 hours afterward no orders had been issued to have the strikers return to their old jobs on the railroads building terms with employers.

The first "round-up" of the members of the old Middlesex North Agricultural society at the Weinbeck parlors on Middlesex street, last Thursday morning, was well attended. The society plans a busy season. I am informed by the secretary, Mr. Dickinson, that the society is planning a very lively interest in organization affairs as usual, and Mr. Dickinson also on hand to look after the intimate details of progress, membership, etc. The election of officers in October may bring a few changes, but not many. The society is in a very happy condition and has been a rock upon which the institution has been erected to stay for a good many years to come. With elaborate plans under way for the fall and winter meeting schedules, to include an exhibit of garden produce and kitchen products, the old society ought to swing along pretty smoothly from now on. It is that meeting at Mr. Weinbeck's place last Thursday morning is any indication.

And only John Philip Sousa, and a dispatch to the Lowell Rotary club this morning announced that the noted band leader is a roaming Rotarian and likes to be a good dinner as well as a good Rotarian away from home on Tuesdays or any other day.

That's why the Lowell clubmen were feeling so lively this morning—they are going to have John Philip with them tomorrow night at 12:15 p. m. at the First club, and P. G. is going to give the clubmen a 15-minute vocalgraph about the way he does it when someone calls for "The Stars and Stripes Forever" or "The Dixie Roll Call."

Secretary Roy Farchert has it on good authority that Sousa is as good a Rotarian as he is a bandmaster. The bandmaster is an honorary member of no less than 23 Rotary clubs. He's a musician, so the formal notices say, but that isn't anything new. He won't tell the Lowell Rotarians tomorrow anything about allegories, andantes or the rest of the vocabulary in connection with new march pieces that catch popular fancy. He's just going to give the members and guests a summary of some experiences of his various jaunts around the globe. Dinner tickets are likely to be at a premium tomorrow.

Mrs. Hall Talks of Murder

New Jersey college for women, which stands directly across the street from the Hall residence, had told the police he saw a woman run down the street about 2 o'clock Friday morning and enter the Hall home. Detectives said he made no report of seeing a man with the woman.

"I am tied by my sister's honor, and that of my family. They are not going to question me," said Stevens when asked about the affair. He declined to say whether he was in the room during the double shooting and said that he was going out of town, and would not answer questions.

A day of investigation, authorities said, had failed to lift in any material way the veil of mystery which shrouds the death of one of the widest known members of the Protestant Episcopal clergy of New Jersey and the wife of the sexton, who was known only beyond her immediate neighborhood for the work she had done as the leader of the church choir.

County Detective Totten said that all aspects of the case still remained "miffing." He added, however, that the theory that robbery was the motive of the double shooting had been discarded. When the night of the shooting watch was missing from his body, only a few cents were in his pockets.

The detective said that Mrs. Hall had been questioned twice by himself and his assistants and interrogated by the police. The 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mills, once, at some length. Totten said it had been learned that Mrs. Hall was an expert trapezist.

Mrs. Hall told Totten, said that after her husband received a telephone call the night of the shooting, he went to the church to see if he had been "detained there." Mrs. Hall, according to Totten, said she thought her husband had gone to the church.

Detective Totten pointed out that Mills had told him that it was a tele-

UNIFORMITY OF ACTION

Forbes Warns Officers of

Veterans' Bureau Against

Becoming "Hard Boiled"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Uniformity of action was demanded of the field officers of the veterans' bureau by Director Forbes in an address today to the conference of officials of the 14 regional districts, meeting to discuss means of closer co-operation in the work on behalf of former service men.

Col. Forbes warned officials against becoming "hard boiled" in the addition of the claims of former service men and asked the field officers to put themselves in the men's places in considering cases. "It is essential to fair treatment," he said, "that each and every case be regarded in a fresh light, no matter how often reviewed. A particularly trying and arduous duty delays upon your board of appeals and your board of review and the members of these bodies must constantly be inspired to the most earnest and sympathetic consideration of cases brought to their attention."

phone message, which also called his wife from her home on Thursday night. It was in answer to a question from Mills' message that the sexton said his wife answered, "if you really want to know where I'm going, follow me and find out."

Detectives also attached significance to the fact that Mills told them that when his wife failed to return Thursday night he, too, went to the church about 2 o'clock, for spiritual consolation, and remained some time, but that he did not report meeting Mrs. Hall there until about 9 o'clock in the morning.

A conversation which occurred last week in the headquarters of the local police department, which the police think may have some bearing on the case, was unearthed by the authorities yesterday. First Captain Michael Riggins was passing the time of day with William Stevens, detectives said, when the captain remarked that the things were rather slow around town.

"Maybe they are now," Stevens said, and has admitted replying, "but something big is going to happen soon." Stevens, when asked what he meant by this statement, declined to answer. Services in the small but wealthy church of St. John the Evangelist, which sets on a knoll overlooking the town of New Brunswick, were conducted yesterday by the Rt. Rev. Alvin Williams, Knight, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New Jersey. The text of his sermon was "Faith, Hope and Charity."

He referred briefly to the tragedy. He said that he had been acquainted with the rector for a long time, and that he had been in the church for many years, and that he was sure the rector could not have been guilty of wrongdoing.

"The tragedy," he said, "was probably a lead to try the congregation's faith. Clergymen are all human, like other people. But I am confident that God knows when he commits eternal principles to us. It is to frail human beings. And as I say, that this tragedy may be the after all only a test of the spirit and the faith of the congregation."

Bishop Knight will officiate at the rector's funeral which will be held to-day in the church of St. John the Evangelist. The funeral of Mrs. Mills will probably be held Tuesday.

An autopsy was performed by Coroner Long on Mrs. Mills' body yesterday. He found that death was due to a single bullet wound through the center of the forehead. The bullet, he said, was fired from in front and passed out back of the right ear. No autopsy has been performed on the rector's body.

Mrs. Hall refused to comment in any way upon the death of her husband or Mrs. Mills. The sexton, however, said that he had been to see Mrs. Hall and that while she could hardly speak, she steadfastly avowed her faith in her husband.

"I wouldn't say Mr. Hall trusted him absolutely and I still believe in him," Mr. Mills quoted Mrs. Hall as saying, and added that she had told him that she intended to hire private detectives, if need be, to clear up the mystery surrounding the double shooting.

Mr. Mills related that the rector's wife said, "You may be sure that I take no stock in the malicious gossip which is going around about my husband and your wife."

Mills said when he asked Mrs. Hall what she thought about the letters which were found by the rector's body, and which are said by the police to have been written by Mrs. Mills to Rev. Mr. Hall, she wept, but said nothing.

Mills told newspaper reporters that the letters found near the rector's body meant nothing but a game which his wife played with herself. He was emphatic in stating that they had never been mailed and that they were in his wife's possession and not the rector's at the time of the shooting. His wife, he said, was a sentimental woman, and was an inveterate reader of romances. He declared that she frequently copied the letters in novels she read and carried them about with her. Mills declared he had seen his wife both writing and reading these messages, which he said, were addressed to "imagined characters."

The sexton was reported to have told the authorities on Saturday that the letters were written by his wife to their two children while she was visiting in the southern part of the state this summer.

"For more than a year," Mills said yesterday, "I have been hearing gossip about my wife. I refused to pay the slightest attention to it until people in the church charged that my wife and Mr. Hall were too friendly. That warned me."

"So," said Mrs. Hall, "man to man, to me what it meant. 'Mr. Mills,' he said, 'you shouldn't listen to such talk. I would not harm you or any member of your family.'"

"Of course, I believed him," Mills concluded, "and I still believe him."

LONG AGO

When you were a prehistoric woman
And I was a prehistoric man,
Both two-thirds ape and one-third human—
Maybe that's when our love began.
Possibly over the head I cracked you
And drugged you off to my tree or cave,
If those were the ways that would attract you
Doubtless that's how I would behave.

Did I love you then? I can't recollect it,
For it was Ever So Long Ago.
But if you were You—well, I would suspect it
Probably happened exactly so.
And if I were I, and I ever met you,
As you swung by your tail with an airy grace,
I probably did my best to get you,
You probably gave me an awful chase!

I don't remember those past occasions
(Which maybe never occurred at all),
What style of wooing, just what persuasions
I may have offered, I can't recall.
If they were helpful, I sure have missed 'em,
For just at present, the way things are,
Though I've tried each promising kind of system,
They're none of them getting me very far!

questioned today—Mrs. Hall for further details of her nocturnal wanderings in the early hours of Friday morning, shortly after the murders are believed to have been committed; Mills for the story of his own wanderings at the same hour; and Willie for further light on his uncanny prediction on Friday morning that "something terrible is going to happen."

The theory that the rector and his choir leader had been slain elsewhere and the bodies removed to Somerset county, was based chiefly on conditions at the spot where they were found. Newspapersmen who went over the scene yesterday, found two crosses carved with a penknife on a cedar near the maple tree under which the bodies were found.

All three were expected to be questioned today.

SOUSA TRIES TO MAKE MUSIC VISIBLE

Followers of Sousa, who is to bring his band here tomorrow, have found in his concerts an appeal which is lacking in whole or in part, in the concerts of other organizations of like aim and design. What is that quality? That is, what is it apart from the personality of John Philip Sousa which is unique? Sousa says it is that because more than any other conductor he seeks to make his music "visible."

Let him tell it, then. "Why is two hours the outside limit of a symphony concert? Why will an audience sit four hours, or even five, for a performance of opera? Well, in the former case, only the ear is held, the entire receptive quality of the human mind, no matter how devoted the owner of that mind may be to music, is concentrated in the ear. In the Opera House, the eye is enchained also; therefore, with two avenues of absorption, there is greater receptivity, and a correspondingly smaller tax on the faculties."

"Well, in the concerts with my band, I go as far as possible to make my music 'visible.' I mean by that, I seek by action and by devices of deportment to have my men carry out in a sort of pantomime the music behind or suggested by the music. My trombone corps in 'The Stars and Stripes Forever' does not strike the casual observer as a device with any purpose, perhaps, except that of exhibiting the cleverness of the players; yet, subconsciously, the spectator falls for the notion of a triumphal march of tribal appeal being poured out by the classic figures of the orchestra."

A story, dramatists are pretty well agreed, is dramatic if it contains the element of conflict—conflict between man and man, between man and his destiny, between man and some great natural force like a forest fire. Perhaps the man or woman wins; perhaps they are beaten; but the story is always a drama.

What is not dramatic is the story of a series of petty vicissitudes which have no main quality of conflict, or perhaps no conflict at all, such as the man who simply accepts his fate and lets it go at that.

The conflict need not be physical. It may be mental, without a fist raised or a shot fired, and still stir the audience. But it must be there, and preferably your hero should represent one of the conflicting forces. Even Charley Chaplin abides by the rules in making pictures.

Secondly, to be dramatic your story must work up to a climax, or big scene. There are really a series of climaxes, each more stirring than the one preceding. You must keep your audience wondering what will happen next.

The best way to produce suspense is to make the obstacles which must be surmounted by your hero and heroine in the course of their struggle very strong and very logical. Also you must be constantly foreshadowing the impending calamity with an ominous word or gesture here and there. And you must be very sure that your audience thoroughly understands the situation.

There will be no suspense unless your audience is thoroughly interested in your plot people. Make your audience love your hero and heroine and hate the villain.

Don't let your plot get too complicated.

TALKED ON MISSIONARY WORK IN CHINA

An interesting lecture on missionary work in China was given before an appreciative audience in St. John's hospital last Friday night by Rev. Dennis P. Nugent, C.M., a member of the Vincentian order of Catholic missionaries. Father Nugent, who has been on duty in China for the last nine years, dwelt on this work in China, and upon the customs and manners of the Chinese of the interior. The lecturer enlightened his story with over 200 stereoscopic slides which he had taken himself during his work in that country.

Father Nugent was born in Kinsale, County Cork, Ireland, and was educated there and in Holland for the priesthood. He was ordained in Holland in 1913 and immediately left for China on missionary work. Since that time he has been busy helping to spread the faith among the natives of that country.

In March of this year he was sent to this country to raise funds to further the work that is being done by the missionaries in this far-off field and has lectured considerably throughout the country. He intends to go to Ireland in December for a short rest in his own home with his mother and will return to his work in China again. Such a dispensation as his is very unusual, as members of this order are rarely allowed to return to their home, once they have taken their vows. Father Nugent met many people in Lowell who came from his birthplace and he enjoyed a pleasant reunion.

GALLI-CURCI

Is An "Institution"—Not a
"Vogue"

To say that Galli-Curci who will give her recital here on Friday evening October 6, is an "institution" is not overstating the case by any means. After the soprano's inaugural appearance in opera in this country the tributes paid to her were so unqualified that many believed that Galli-Curci would be the "singer" for a time only. It seemed incredible to outsiders that a soprano who first dazzled her audience with dizzy flights of coloratura could continue to amuse people year after year. But the doubters did not realize that it would not be chiefly because of her marvelous technical equipment that Galli-Curci would continue to hold sway. They did not and could not then know the lyric phase of Galli-Curci's art, the wonderful cantatas as pure as unalloyed silver, the matchless "floating" quality that has baffled critics who have since tried to analyze her voice. From "Caro Nome" ("The Shadow Song") and the "Mad Scene" medleys for display of coloratura singing, Galli-Curci has led her audiences to such lovely, simple fragments as "Solweig's Song," "Chanson Indoue," "Le, Hear the Gentle Lark," "Swanee River" and "Home, Sweet Home." It is this great artist who could dazzle with her brilliance and woo with her charming simplicity that has endeared her to the hearts of millions. It was a "personality" Galli-Curci became an "institution," not as a vocal technician. As one critic remarked after hearing her: "It is not a matter of time when she will be worshipped by the whole civilized world." To judge by the number of letters pouring into the office of her managers, Evans and Satter, New York city, the whole civilized world is craving to hear her. From Australia, England, France, Spain, Japan and South America come requests for her appearances.

In 1916 she made her American debut. Last season, her sixth in America, was from every angle the most sweepingly successful of her career and today she is in greater demand than ever. Her artistry and personality are so deeply entrenched in the esteem of the music-loving public that the name Galli-Curci is associated in the memories of thousands upon thousands, with their most cherished experiences of a life-time. Tickets for her Lowell concert on sale at Chalifoux's.

HIGHLAND DAYLIGHTS CHAMPIONS OF THE MERRIMACK VALLEY

Lowell Entry Triumphs Over Lawrence K. of C. in Inter-City Championship Series—Won Second and Final Game Saturday by Score of 7 to 2

After a series of postponements, the second and final game of the inter-city title between the Highland Daylights of Lowell and the K. of C. of Lawrence, was played last Saturday afternoon at Highland park. Lawrence, and resulted in a 7 to 2 victory for the local Twilight league champions, giving them undisputed title to the coveted championship of the Merrimack valley for the season of 1922.

Dolan Pitched a Great Game
It was a close and interesting game up to the eighth inning when the Lowell batters sewed up the game and began to embroider it with five well-earned runs after events had remained at an impasse during the preceding innings. Billy Higgins, regarded as the super ace of Lawrence, pitched the game for the Knights, but four two-base hits, a triple and seven singles sandwiched in between his last out, put the Highlanders in a position to win. Higgins pitched a perfect game, allowing only one run in the eighth inning, and the game took on a more favorable aspect for Mr. Lord's rosters.

LOUIS LORD, Manager of Champions

Lowell Wins Out in Eighth
The game went by the boards in the eighth, five runs being scored when the smoke of battle cleared. Marquette and Smith, the star players in the Highland team, were sent to the plate and scored on the sun-terry in left field. Higgins pitched a perfect game, allowing only one run in the eighth inning, and the game took on a more favorable aspect for Mr. Lord's rosters.

Presentations Before Game
Prior to the commencement of activities, Mayor Lawrence, who awarded various prizes, donated by well-known Lawrence business firms, the winners of the different contests conducted throughout the season. Harry Trow of the Smith and Davis team, who pitched the first inter-city game for the K. of C. was awarded a silver loving cup. Butter Lacey, who pitched the first inter-city game for the Twilight league, was awarded a silver loving cup. The winners of the different contests conducted throughout the season. Freeman Opens With Double Freeman, first up, walloped the second ball pitched to left field for two runs and scored on Brinkford's hit or similar proportions to right. The latter went to third while Greenwald was being thrown out at first, but returned when Smith was retired in like manner. For the Casey's, Conlon reached first when Smith bled his grounder. Higgins whiffed.

COMING WORLD'S SERIES BEST 4 OUT OF 7

The world series of 1922 will consist of seven games.
In 1919 the world series, which had always been a seven-game test, was changed to a nine-game affair. Unfortunately the first year of the nine-game series was marred by the baseball scandal, in which a number of Chicago American league players were convicted. Their expulsion from baseball resulted.
In 1920 the series went only seven games because Cleveland, after winning the first game and losing the next two, won four in succession.
Last year the two New York clubs went eight games before the Giants succeeded in winning the necessary five.

Slump In Attendance
It is a very interesting and unusual fact that the attendance in the final and deciding game of the 1921 series was the smallest of the entire eight games.
Nearly 37,000 people saw the seventh game, while only a few more than 25,000 were present at the deciding contest. That was the big surprise. It made it appear as if a nine-game series was a bit too long drawn out.
When the national commission went to nine games instead of seven the yell went up that it was merely greed on the part of the magnates that caused the shift.
Fans Only Laughed
This argument that it would give more people a chance to see the series was scoffed at. The feeling was that the added two games was simply another bit of commercialism on the part of the club owners.
When the attendance fell off so badly in the final game last year, which was the eighth of the series, it must have decided Judge Landis in favor of a seven-game series.

Looked Like a Surebet
It made it appear as if the fans were surfeited with baseball.
The argument was advanced that since all of the world series were played in New York it wasn't a fair test for the longer series. Going back to seven games, however, will win the favor of a great many fans since it will make them feel that money, after all, is not bigger than the game.

GIRL OUT FOR NEW SWIMMING RECORDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Gertrude Ederle, 15 year old aquatic sensation of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, will seek to establish new world records at 150, 200 and 250 yards in a specially arranged event in the Brighton Beach Pool, Sept. 26.
Miss Ederle, who recently set six new world records in one event at distances of 300 to 500 metres, demonstrated Saturday an exhibition that she is prepared for the speed test by making 100 yards in one minute, 4 1/2 seconds, only four-fifths of a second slower than the world record held by Miss Ethelinde McIntire.

Both Bradley and Williams, rival third basemen, stepped hard hit line drives.
Keegan, in left for the Knights, seemed to be bothered with the sun. He judged a couple and dropped another.

The K. of C. management objected to the use of Daley in the Daylight lineup. He did not play as a result.

Bob Ganley was in uniform and coached the boys in his customary fashion.

Ben Keaveney made an ideal announcer. His loud voice carried to every section of the field.

The grounds were in perfect shape despite the rain of the night before. It's a pity Lowell has not such a diamond.

Hubert and Mulno warmed up before the game. They weren't needed, however, a Dolan was never in serious dangers.

The umpiring was C. K. Grady of Lowell worked on the bases and Lunch of Lawrence behind the bat.

Who will be the champs of 1923?

MORAN FOOLS CRITICS WITH HIS CINCI REDS

Pat Moran became manager of the Phillies in 1915, succeeding Charley Doolin, who had piloted the club to sixth place in 1914.
Moran won the National league pennant with the Phillies in '18, steered them into second place in 1916 and 1917, fell to sixth place in 1918 and was fired.

Then he moved to Cincinnati, replacing Christy Mathewson, who had brought the Reds into third place in 1918.

Again he signaled his first year as manager of a team by winning the flag for Cincinnati in 1919. And again his team started slumping after winning the championship, failing to third place in 1920 and sixth place in 1921.
"Moran is a one-year manager," many close followers of baseball then said of him.

"He won the flag for Philadelphia with a team Doolin had built and did the same for Cincinnati with a club of Mathewson's construction."

"He wrecked two pennant-winning machines that he had little hand in making."

Kept Him Anyway
Despite his failure in 1920 and 1921 the Cincinnati club retained Moran as manager for this year and this season has seen him stage a really spectacular comeback. Pat has just about lived down the opinion that he was a one-year manager and is now being regarded rather than a team builder.

This year he has almost completed the work of building a new championship team and he has done it largely with minor league players.

Of the men who worked for him when Cincinnati led the league in 1919 just seven remain. These are: Roush and Pat Duncan, outfield regulars; Rube Bressler and Greasy Neale, catcher; Jack Dauter, first baseman, and Adolfo Luque, pitcher.

Many Old Aces Gone
Hod Eller, Jimmy Rieg, Dutch Ruether, Slim Sallee and Ray Fisher, his pitching aces of 1919, all are gone. So is Felipe Groh, his third baseman and captain. Larry Kopf, his shortstop; Morris Rath, his second baseman; and Bill Randall, his other catcher.

His utility men of 1919, with the exception of Bressler, have faded from the Cincinnati picture.

In the places of these men are George Burns and Eppie Rixey, who came from the Boston Red Sox, and George Hargrave, Western league outfielder; Jimmy Cavaney and Babe Pille, Coast league players; Johnny Cooney, Coast league pitcher; and Gus Keck, Western association hurler.

Very Strong Team
A few lesser lights from the minors also were taken on and have been big factors for minor roles, but this year's Cincinnati team is a real team. Cooney, Hargrave, Burns, Cavaney, Pille and Harper, added to Burns, Rixey, Dauter, Roush, Duncan, Randall and Rieg, make the Reds an exceedingly strong team, which has brilliant prospects for 1923.

But for a miserable start this year, due to Roush's holdout, the team's newness of the machine, the team Pat Moran has rebuilt would now have the 1922 pennant won.

OPENING OF ABBOT SOCCER SEASON

The Abbot soccer season opened last Saturday afternoon when the Mass. Cotton Mill team of Lowell journeyed to the New Bedford field in Torrey, Vt. to meet a 6-1 defeat at the hands of the speedy Abbots. The winners appeared in new uniforms of blue and white and presented a pretty picture as they romped about the playing area in championship form. John C. Abbot, treasurer of the Abbot Soccer Club, who has been the manager of the game and from then on Abbot boys displayed their superiority. J. Kershaw with three difficult goals was only one of the afternoon and gave evidence of repeating his great work of last season.

After 10 minutes of play, Larry Kane, of the dandy crew to Kershaw, who completed the play for the first goal. Kane was also instrumental in getting the second counter over for the Abbots. Receiving the ball from clever Swanton, shot to Neil who eluded Swanton and shot the goal. The remaining four goals were scored in rapid succession. The Abbots were in the first period and three in the next. Two periods of 45-minutes each were played. On next Saturday the Abbots will oppose the Quinners at Quincy. The lineup and summary of Saturday's game follow:

ABBOT WORSTED MASS. COTTON

LOWELL IN NEW POLO LEAGUE

Awarded Franchise in National Roller Polo League, Organized Yesterday

Worcester, New Bedford, Providence, Nashua and Portland in Circuit

Lowell was awarded a franchise in the National Roller Polo league, which was organized at a meeting held at the Copley Square hotel, Boston, yesterday afternoon.

The other cities to receive franchises were Worcester, New Bedford, Providence, Nashua, N. H., and Portland, Me. Each franchise will be owned by an individual and no man in the league will control or hold an interest in any other club.

While no definite date was selected to open the season, it is expected to start some time in the next part of next month, the date to be fixed at the next meeting of the league, which will be held in Boston on Sunday, Oct. 1.

The meeting opened at 2 o'clock and it continued well into the evening and declared it was one of the most enthusiastic and productive ever held in connection with the game.

Each club included in the circuit was represented by at least one player and during the protracted session each took an active part in the deliberations. It was voted that the teams be tentatively selected, with the teams of equalizing them as well as possible, but not to announce the selections until the men assigned to the various teams had been signed up for the season.

In the meantime the team owners will get in touch with the players and offer them contracts. It is expected word will be received by the time of the next meeting at which permanent lineups will be made up and announced.

The election of officers brought about the unanimous choice of William P. Cronin of Worcester, the only survivor of the original National Roller Polo league, as president. John Miller of New Bedford, who has been connected with polo for three years, was elected vice president. William D. Perrin of Providence, elected to that office. William H. Sullivan of Lowell was named treasurer.

The franchises were awarded to the following: New Bedford to John E. Miller; Worcester to William P. Cronin; Providence to James Graham; Portland to Frank DeLice, Nashua to C. C. Johnson, and Lowell to William H. Sullivan.

EMERALD SECONDS HELD CHAMPIONSHIP

The Emerald Seconds retained the 11-13-year-old championship of the city last Saturday when the Morrills refused to play. As the Morrills regarded themselves as the only logical contenders for the "Seconds" crown, the team was not on the field. The Morrills exceeded the "Seconds" speed limit, having some players as old as 13 years. The Morrills will now endeavor to duplicate their baseball success, winning 23 out of 37 games played for an average of .522.

In a hotly contested game on the South common Saturday afternoon, the Wanderers defeated the Maple A. A. score of 3 to 1. The Wanderers were the opposing pitchers, Frank Waring because of better support. A purse of $100 went to the Wanderers for their victory.

CLAIM THE GAME
The Lowell Independents failed to show up for their game with the Henry O. Brooks team Saturday on the State Island playgrounds and the Brooks team therefore claimed the game, 3 to 0.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Al Diamond has returned to New York after spending several days in Lowell visiting relatives and friends. He had originally planned to remain here another week but received word Saturday to start back at once.

The summoning of the Lowell flyweight to the recent overturn of the flyweight title, when Pancho Villa dethroned Johnny Buff in a titular contest, Villa has now been matched to box Indian Russell.

Diamond has been promised a match with Villa and a word entitles him to a crack at the title. He holds a decision over Tiny Trinkle and the latter has a victory over Russell to his credit. Trinkle won a decision over Russell, and then Diamond succeeded in stopping Trinkle in five rounds. The Diamond-Trinkle bout took place at States Island last summer and the Lowell boy won in a most decisive manner.

The fact that Freddie Williams, who is matched to meet Newport Johnny Brown here next Thursday night, points to a decision over Danny Baldwin, who has lost his last possession of the title. Before Williams held the Pacific coast heavyweight title, since "adopting" boxing as a career, he has appeared in several bouts and recently scored a decision over Willie Corbett, the student boxer. Williams is under the management of Billy Henderson, pilot of Eddie Shelton and other good boxers, and Henderson declares he is one of the best men of his weight in this vicinity.

Young Martin Flaherty's decisive victory over Jimmy Barry last week convinced all that he must be a terrific brawler. He has no time in getting started and once he gets his driving blows working he never relaxes his efforts. This week he is to meet Billy Brown of Lynn in an eight-round number.

Jimmy Demas, another local boy, who is stepping into this season, having won two successive bouts, will try to make it three in a row when he takes on Johnny Sunday of Troy, N. Y. Billy Williams of Lowell and Danny Murphy of Lawrence will perform in the other bout.

Two members of the "Fighting Shades" will feature the show to be staged by the Arena A.C. tonight. Billy Shad, the light heavyweight, and George Wade, the middleweight, will take on Alex Tremblais, the coast welterweight, will make his Boston debut against Steve Letto. In the opening bout, Billy Shute of Quincy will appear against Freddie Warren of South Boston.

FINAL GAME OF CRUCIAL SERIES

Browns and Yanks Complete "Little World's Series" at St. Louis Today

Prueff Pitches St. Louis Back to Within Half a Game of League Leaders

Ken Williams Smashes Way Into Lead Among Home Run Hitters

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Hub Prueff's southpaw falterings succeeded where Urban Shooker's veteran pitching art failed, and the battling St. Louis Browns were back today within a half game of the top as a result of their 6-1 victory over New York in the second and final game of the "Little World Series."

The final contest between the rivals will be played today with Joe Bush, Plugging's premier mound ace, and possibly Van Gilders, who turned in a brilliant game against Boston last week, as the pitching opponents.

Ken Williams of the Browns and Babe Ruth of the Yankees both demonstrated their favorite art in the second game, the former smashing out his fifth homer to break a tie for the major league lead with Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals, while Plugging's premier mound ace, and possibly Van Gilders, who turned in a brilliant game against Boston last week, as the pitching opponents.

Osborne held the Dodgers and Cincinnati at bay in his 41st consecutive game, breaking Ty Cobb's modern mark of 40 set in 1911.

The Giants lost to Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in a battle in which they were outplayed by the Yankees, who won their sixth game, dropping a half game of their six-game margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were idle. If the Browns win half of their contest, the Pirates must take all of their 13 to annex the pennant.

Summa, a Texas outfielder, and Poole, a rookie twinner, were leading factors in Cleveland's victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 2. Dauss was hit hard and Washington downed the Senators, 5 to 1. In the sixth produced the runs that gave Boston a 3 to 2 decision over the White Sox.

Game Six Decide Pennant
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—(By The Associated Press.) The championship of the American league hinged in a large measure upon the outcome of the final contest of a three game series between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns today.

New York possessed the slim lead of a half game, but the Yankees team has won one game, the Yankees coping Saturday, 3 to 1 when Bob Shawkey subdued Urban Shooker, and the Browns won the first game, 2 to 1, when "Shucks" Prueff, southpaw schoolboy hurler, pitched inviolable ball against Walter Hoyt and Sam Jones.

The local crowd, which today, the victors would increase their lead to a game and a half. That margin at this stage of the season, with the Browns leading the Yankees down the stretch, as the Yankees 10, would go far in determining the championship. Should victory perch on the Browns' banner, the local crowd would be in a half contest. This result, it is believed, would mean that the Browns have a favorable chance to beat the New York team down the stretch, as the Yankees appear to be facing a harder schedule to the finish than the Browns.

"But" Joe Bush, the leading pitcher of the major leagues, was slated to hurl for the Yankees. For the Browns, the pitching selection seemed to lie between Davis, Wright and Kolp.

For the first time since 1914, a shipment of more than 1000 game birds for stocking the game preserve on the island of St. Kitts, from Europe to the United States.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Johnny Brown is now regarded as one of the most powerful featherweights in New England. He has been cutting a deep swath among N.E. featherweights during the past year and especially well has he performed down in Maine. He is looked upon as one of the most satisfactory boxers of his weight in the east. He realizes that he has a formidable opponent and consequently is training diligently to be at his best when he steps into the ring Thursday night.

Young Martin Flaherty's decisive victory over Jimmy Barry last week convinced all that he must be a terrific brawler. He has no time in getting started and once he gets his driving blows working he never relaxes his efforts. This week he is to meet Billy Brown of Lynn in an eight-round number.

POINT OF ORDER RAISED ON TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Whether the tariff bill would again be thrown into conference depended on the ruling to be made today on the point of order to which the conference report on the measure was submitted by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, demagogue leader in the tariff fight, when it was called up in the senate Saturday. Should the point of order not be sustained it was expected that final legislative action on the bill would come late today or tomorrow.

Senator Simmons, republican, Iowa, as president pro tempore, had under advisement since recess of the senate Saturday, the question raised in Senator Cummins' contention that the tariff conference had exceeded their authority by proposing authority for the president to declare American valuations as the basis of an ad valorem duty assessment on any item in the bill.

YOUTH IS HELD FOR SHOOTING STEPMOTHER

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 18.—William Coburn, a high school student, arrested in Portsmouth, yesterday after his stepmother had been shot while she lay in bed at her home, here, was arraigned in police court today charged with assault with intent to kill. His case was continued until Oct. 2, and he was held without bonds. Mrs. Coburn was said to be seriously hurt, but the hospital authorities refused to make any statement regarding her injuries. The shooting was understood to have followed a quarrel between the boy and his stepmother, several days ago.

London Alarmed

The neutral territory along the straits, and has called upon Jugoslavia and Rumania, as well as her own dominions, for aid.

France is understood, however, to favor moral persuasion rather than force in maintaining the international character of the straits. Italy, too, is against relying entirely on this form of defense, it is declared. Aside from general concurrence that the neutrality of the straits must be maintained, the opinion of the London press is much divided over the British government's policy.

The Times thinks diplomatic action would suffice to solve the difficulty if the Kemalists were convinced that Great Britain and France would act together. The newspaper condemns the policy followed by both governments since the armistice, and is especially severe with "the levity of the British rulers, through whose inaptitude, ignorance and vanity, a very real danger has been brought upon the nation."

The Morning Post, sharply scolding the government, says Great Britain has had enough of war, especially of unnecessary war, and that in order to secure peace, it must get rid of Lloyd George.

The Daily News violently attacks the government's policy for the last three years, which policy "has brought us to the verge of another European catastrophe and trafficked British prestige in the dust."

The Daily Herald declares that "not a single ship, not a gun" ought to be provided for new military adventures, and urges that the whole matter be referred to the League of Nations.

Elsewhere the government's pronouncement of policy meets with more support. The Daily Telegraph, while hoping for an early settlement through a conference, is glad to have assurance that the government is taking the military measures which may prove necessary and expresses satisfaction with the little entente having the opportunity to join in the defense of the straits.

The Westminster Gazette says: "It is quite certain the allies cannot regulate control of the situation unless they are ready to fight if necessary, and unless they convince the Turks of this."

The newspaper urges the holding of a conference at which the allies must "make and enforce their own peace with the Turks—not merely the Greeks' peace."

The Daily Chronicle, giving its voice for the conference, thinks the meeting cannot be called for some weeks and that meanwhile the Turks are likely to seize every scrap of ground they can for bargaining purposes.

The Daily Express applauds the steps the government is taking and predicts that if Mustafa Kemal tries to cross the straits he will meet with complete disaster.

YANKEE SAILORS SAVED 450 ORPHANS

SMYRNA, Sept. 18.—(By Associated Press) Smyrna, which the Turks have called the eye of Asia, is a vast sepulchre of agony; only the shattered walls of 25,000 homes and the charred bodies of countless victims remain to tell the story of death and destruction unexplained in modern history.

The ruins are still smoldering; no effort has been made by the Turks to remove the dead and dying; the streets are full of the bodies, for the most part women and children.

Every building in the Armenian quarter has been burned, with the dead lying about, the bay, which covers an area of 50 acres, still carries on its surface the poor remains of those who were massacred or sought to escape the ruthlessness of the foe.

On the waterfront crouch thousands of survivors, who fear death at the hands of the soldiery; there are no boats to take them off.

Rescue 450 Under Eyes of Turks
One ship captain declined to take any of the wretched survivors, but, in contrast to his indifference, Captain Wallers of the American steamer Winona rescued 1800 and took them to Piræus.

American sailors of the destroyer Lithuanian snatched 450 orphaned boys from the pier and carried them safely to Constantinople. The junkies slept on the iron decks or under torpedo tubes while the youngsters occupied the bunks.

While the orphans were being loaded on the Lithuanian, H. C. Aquilla, director of near east relief, who came here recently from Constantinople, diverted the attention of the Turkish guards, giving them cigars and talking to them in their native tongue.

These guards are under strict orders not to permit the escape of any of the Greek or Armenian refugees, and on several occasions have shot to death fugitives endeavoring to reach outlying vessels by swimming.

Out of 300,800 Christians crowding the city prior to the descent of the Turks, only 60,000 have been evacuated.

Kemalist officials have informed the American relief workers that the return of the Christians to the interior meant certain death.

The director of the Armenian orphanage, established by the American committee for relief in the near east, committed suicide by drowning.

Dr. McLaughlin, president of the American college, was severely beaten by Turkish irregulars and his clothes and money seized. He limped from the suburbs of Paratze, scene of the massacre, and was taken aboard the British dreadnought Iron Duke. He attributes his escape from death to the fact that he can speak Turkish and worked a ruse on the Turks.

AUSTRALIA READY TO SEND TROOPS

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Premier W. M. Hughes of the Australian commonwealth after consultation with his cabinet, announces that the Australian government is prepared to send a contingent to the Near East if necessary, says a Reuter despatch from Melbourne.

The leader of the Country party in the Australian parliament, W. Page, supports the proposal to send a contingent from Australia, but the leader of the Labor opposition, J. Lyons, is opposed to it unless it is preceded by a referendum. His opposition is based on the ground that Australia has not yet recovered from the World War.

Military authorities at Melbourne say good officers and men are ready for the proposed campaign.

INTERVENTION BY LEAGUE URGED

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press) The intervention of the League of Nations to stop the war in Asia Minor and relieve the distress of refugees was proposed in the Assembly of the League of Nations today by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, high commissioner of the international commission for Russian relief.

Dr. Nansen informed the assembly he had received a telegram from his delegate in Constantinople asking authority to use the relief organization in helping refugees from Anatolia. He asked the privilege of offering a resolution to the effect that the council of the league authorize immediately the use of the relief organization for that purpose, at the same time examining under what conditions it could intervene to end hostilities.

The assembly received both proposals.

POINCARE CONSIDERS BRITISH NOTE

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press) Premier Poincaré, returning from a week-end in the country, began immediate consideration today of the unofficial British note issued last Saturday, calling upon the allied and Balkan powers to unite for military action against any Turkish move on the straits of the Dardanelles.

While not taking the view expressed by most of the French newspapers that the British note was "distinctly warlike" and "dangerous" in tone, it was emphasized at the Quai d'Orsay that Poincaré's eastern policy was decidedly "peaceful" and does not contemplate the use of military force.

The French premier is keenly desirous of playing the role of mediator in the near eastern crisis between the conflicting interests rather than joining forces with Great Britain in an out-and-out policy of opposition to the Turks, well-informed circles close to the premier say.

There is no question as yet of sending more French troops to the zone of the straits. It was said in official circles, however, how many between 6000 and 8000 soldiers within the zone.

It is believed to be not improbable that Premier Poincaré will make it known in what ways the French and British policies differ, as regards the unofficial British note.

BRITISH WARSHIPS RUSH TO SCENE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press) The entire British Atlantic fleet is being sent to reinforce the Mediterranean squadron for the protection of Constantinople and the straits of the Dardanelles.

This undoubtedly will create the most formidable armada of warships ever assembled in an area of like size, embracing the most modern dreadnaughts, battle cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers.

British officials here feel confident that if the allied land forces are not sufficient to check an attack on the Dardanelles by the Turkish nationalists, the combined fleet, together with French and Italian war vessels, will be more than adequate.

There is an increased feeling of security among the population of Constantinople as a result of Great Britain's energetic measures.

The allied commanders here are meeting today under the presidency of Brig. Gen. Sir Charles Harrington to discuss means for the defense of the capital and the straits. The meeting is expected to bring out the complete unity of the British, French and Italian forces.

It is now ascertained that only 20,000 Greek soldiers remain under arms in Thrace, retention of which territory by Greece is seriously doubted here.

IMPORTANT SESSION BY BRITISH CABINET

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press) The British cabinet held a conference this morning over the Near Eastern crisis. Significance was attached to the presence of the Earl of Cavan, chief of staff of the army, and Sir John Balfour, a prominent representative of the admiralty all of whom carried dispatches and maps.

CONDEMNNS DE VALERA TANLAC DEMAND

Archbishop Curley Says No True American Should Aid Cause of Irregulars

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore, declared on his return from Europe yesterday on the Celtic, that "No American true to American principles should for one moment countenance the work of Eamon de Valera as head of the irregular troops in Ireland."

"They are bent on destruction and the bringing about of chaos in Ireland," the archbishop said, referring to de Valera and his followers. "They have no constructive program and can have none, because they, as a small minority, are fighting, burning and wrecking Ireland as far as they can."

The worst feature of the situation is, the archbishop concluded, "that de Valera and his wreckers are receiving help from supposed friends of Ireland in America. No American, true to American principles, should for one moment countenance the present armed attack on the Irish people now being made by a disappointed set of men."

During the first seven months of this year $54,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold and a new world record for a proprietary medicine is established. More than 30,000,000 bottles have been sold during the eight years Tanlac has been before the public, and to say that it is the largest selling medicine of its kind does not begin to tell the story. No other preparation has ever approached the demand enjoyed by Tanlac, and it is expected that the sales this year alone will be more than ten million bottles.

Working diligently at full capacity the three modern laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, Walkersville, Canada, and Mexico City are still behind with orders, in spite of the fact that the combined output has been increased to 2,240 bottles a day. While the laboratories are striving for quantity production this endeavor is still secondary to the determination to make no sacrifice whatever that will endanger the high quality of the medicine.

Tanlac's wide-spread and ever-increasing popularity is the strongest possible proof of its unquestionable merit. No product, no matter how extensively advertised, could continue to establish world records for sales year after year if it did not produce actual and positive results.

Tanlac is composed of the most beneficial roots, herbs and barks known to medical science. The formula is ethical and conforms to all pure food and drug laws, and although Tanlac's superiority is abundantly supported by leading authorities it is the people themselves who have made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it and have told other millions what it has done with thousands of the best people in every community have given public statements of the great benefits they have received by taking it.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Advertisers by their destructive policy, to destroy the Free State," they said.

"But then the British will return," they were told.

"Well, we'll leave Ireland so that it will be no good for the British when they do come," was the reply.

Mr. Brennan in speaking with some merchants was told that the country would soon be prosperous, except for the shortage of this useless war fare if peace were restored. Under present conditions, he said, it is impossible to ship goods out of the country as the roads are cut or blocked and many of the railroads disabled or abandoned. For instance, there is no road connection between Cork and Limerick and similar conditions prevail in other parts of the country. The British merchants do not want to purchase the agricultural products of Ireland for the reason that they are never sure as to whether they can have them delivered as per agreement. Thus the markets for butter and eggs, hogs, cattle, oats and flour are comparatively dead.

In the opinion of Mr. Brennan, the death of Michael Collins struck nearer to the heart of Ireland than anything that had happened in the previous 100 years. The sorrow throughout the country was intense and it moved the people almost to a feeling of frenzy and desperation, restrained only by their religious feeling in the presence of the death of one of the bravest and noblest and a young man who combined in a high degree the qualities of the soldier and statesman.

Mr. Brennan states that he believes if the people were given an opportunity to vote upon the acceptance of the Free State that the majority would be adopted by at least 95 per cent of the people, as they are heartily sick of the present state of affairs in which a lot of young gunmen, some of whom were not in the service when the people were fighting the British forces, are now enlisted as bandits under the flag of the irregulars and claiming to be fighting for a Irish republic. They have no program to offer as an alternative to the Free State other than the return of the British and the restoration of the condition that prevailed before the treaty was adopted or, in other words, the continuance of British rule rather than a settlement such as provided under the treaty.

Speaking of the north of Ireland, Mr. Brennan states that the persecution of the Catholics in that territory was most shameful. Hundreds of them were slaughtered and thousands of families were given 24 hours to move out and were obliged to flee, leaving all their possessions behind in order to escape a worse fate.

Mr. Brennan had heard some of the republicans asked what they meant to do with the Free State.

A great many roads are cut with trenches and the material removed so that any motor vehicle approaching could hardly notice the trench before falling headlong into it. Besides, where trees are thrown across the road the people are afraid to touch them as they have found in many cases that explosives were hidden so that by the removal of the trees they would be set off with deadly effect. The supporters of the Free State are wondering where the irregulars got their supply of arms which seem to be unlimited; but it is easier to smuggle arms from America or elsewhere since the British cannot patrol the coast without withdrawing.

The people in the disturbed localities are afraid to express their sentiments in regard to the irregulars, knowing that if they offered any criticism and that it should come to the ears of some of these gunmen, the result might be the slaying of a whole family for the casual remark of one individual.

American Arriving at Constantinople From Smyrna Tells of Massacres

Turks Killed Hundreds—Then Deliberately Fired City to Cover Up Crimes

Some, Driven Insane By Reign of Terror, Drowned Themselves

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 18 (By the Associated Press).—Americans arriving today from Smyrna gave graphic descriptions of scenes of fire and slaughter. One, a resident of Smyrna for 10 years, said the Turkish troops massacred hundreds of Christians, then deliberately fired the city to cover up their crimes.

Some inhabitants, driven insane by the reign of terror, drowned themselves. A naturalized American citizen killed himself when the Kemalists seized his wife and sister. Other Americans were intimidated with pistols and robbed.

Lieutenant Commander John B. Rhodes, commander of the American destroyer Lathrop, with five blue-jackets, saved six British civilians from death after the British forces had evacuated. American sailors risked their lives to save thousands while the fire was in progress.

Terrible Picture of Misery
Chester Griswold, American merchant, performed almost superhuman work, succoring terrorized Christians by his successful plans with their would-be Turkish slayers.

H. C. Ingham of New York, who was in Smyrna from the time of the invasion to the destruction of the city, told the Associated Press correspondent:

"It was a night of terror. The whole populace rushed to the water's edge. Women cried to heaven for help. Many plunged into the water, preferring drowning to death by fire."

"It was the most harrowing picture of misery and anguish I ever witnessed. The heat was so intense that no one in the fire zone could stand. It was an appalling influx to a week fraught with the horrors of war and massacre."

"The French Catholic nuns deserve unstinted praise for their heroism. When the fire was at its worst, they rushed into the hospitals and at the risk of their own lives, carried out helpless patients."

"The American people should be proud of the valor and intrepidity of their sailors, who showed reckless unconcern for their own safety, helping women and children to escape."

TURKS DEMAND RETURN OF THRACE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 18.—(By the Associated Press).—The immediate withdrawal of the Greek forces from the Thracian region in European Turkey has been insisted upon by Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Turkish nationalist leader, in a conversation with Sir Harry Lamb, the British high commissioner, during a visit of Sir Harry to Kemal in Smyrna.

The visit of Sir Harry to Kemal was to ascertain the attitude of the nationalist government toward Great Britain. Kemal informed Sir Harry that Turkey was not fighting against Great Britain, but that Great Britain had interfered every obstacle to the free development of Turkey.

He assured the British high commissioner that the nationalists would not attack the neutral zones in the Straits of the Dardanelles if the British would recognize the Ankara National pact and return Thrace to Turkey.

The Ankara government has informed the allies that if the commander of the Greek army in Asia Minor attempts to retreat across the neutral zones of the Dardanelles the Kemalists will disregard the neutrality of the Straits and pursue the Greeks in international territory.

The Greek military mission has left Constantinople.

NEW ZEALAND TO SEND CONTINGENT

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Sept. 18. (By the Associated Press).—Only one answer is possible when the British empire calls its loyal citizens. Premier Massey in a statement with regard to New Zealand's decision to send a contingent to assist in the protection of the Straits of the Dardanelles.

"I hope even yet that war will be averted," the premier declared, but if peace is to be maintained, "then the present difficulty has to be faced firmly and promptly without delay."

"I had hoped the British empire would have recovered from the last war before being called upon to participate in another. We don't want war, but it comes first. When the empire calls there is only one answer possible on the part of loyal citizens."

CALCUTTA, Sept. 18.—This city was plunged yesterday into a mad joyousness, announcing that Moslems throughout India would celebrate the Turkish victory. All were enjoined to assemble in the mosque and pray for the success of Turkish arms.

BEGIN RECOUNT OF VOTES IN 15TH DISTRICT

The recount petitioned for by Adolph Herard, who was unsuccessful in obtaining the republican nomination for a representative from the 15th district in last week's primary elections, was started at city hall this morning. Although a large force of clerks was employed, up until 12 o'clock only the votes of Ward three had been recounted.

None of the candidates made a gain on the total of three precincts, and in fact each lost one or more votes. In precinct 2, Mr. Jewett gained one vote, while Mr. Vigant lost one. This was the only place where any candidate made a gain.

The largest gain was made in blanks with 14 being added to the totals. Mr. Achin lost five votes in the ward. Mr. Berard 3, Mr. Chadwick 1, Mr. Jewett 3, Mr. Lewis 2, and Mr. Vigant 1. Precinct 1, Mr. Achin lost two and Mr. Berard 1. In the case of the other four candidates the recount figures were the same as previously announced. Blanks gained three in this precinct.

In the precinct two Mr. Jewett gained one, which was lost by Mr. Vigant while the other counts remained the same. In precinct three every candidate, with the exception of Mr. Vigant, lost one or more votes. Mr. Achin lost three, Mr. Berard, two, Mr. Chadwick, one, Mr. Jewett three and Mr. Lewis two. Blanks gained 11 in this precinct.

The work of counting ward six was started about noon time. With six precincts to be counted, the prospects that the recount would be completed today are not bright. The ballots have to be racked and counted separately which makes the work more complicated.

PLATO CLUB HOLDS WELL ATTENDED MEETING

Associate hall was filled to the doors yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a meeting in the interest of the welfare of the local Greek community under the auspices of the Plato club, an organization composed of Greek speaking college students and high school graduates.

The meeting was presided over by Constantine Zerkis, president of the club, who in his opening remarks gave an outline of the work already accomplished by the club, which was formed for educational purposes. He said that plans are now under way for the publication of a Greek educational magazine and he further stated that beginning next month classes in English will be conducted in the Greek parochial school in Worthen street for the women of the colony. The young man dwelt at length on conditions in the community and criticized the action of some of the professional men, who, he said, ambition he said was to get rich quick.

He introduced as the first speaker Mayor George H. Brown, who briefly expressed his sympathy for the conditions existing in Asia Minor and urged the club to take steps to try to assist political discussions and to enjoy the educational opportunities that are being offered them in this country.

Miss Alexandra Tsameta, a senior at the Woburn high school, spoke in "Ancient Greece" and gave a history of this country is a miracle of practical progress. The strength of American civilization is in the high character of its people and the American finds his true being in ideas that are pure, lofty and divine. The young woman's address was listened to with great interest. The next speaker was Dr. John E. Gatsopoulos, who as usual proved very interesting. In the course of the meeting American and Greek national anthems were sung.

Estimates on Number of Strikers Taken Back By Rail and Union Officials

Numerous Railroads Still Ignore So-Called Baltimore Settlement

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—With numerous railroads of both eastern and western groups continuing to ignore the so-called Baltimore settlement plan, several other roads, including a few big systems, today restored jobs under the Weirfield-Jewell truce to shopmen who quit their posts eight days ago.

Estimates on the number of strikers taken back into the shops vary. Some rail and union officials placed the number as high as 50,000.

Roads announcing they had solved their shop problems through employment of new men and former strikers previously taken back and organized into new shop unions included the Chicago & Alton, the Illinois Central, Chicago Great Western, Northern Pacific and Union Pacific.

Bert M. Jewell, head of the shop craft organization and the opponent representative in framing the settlement terms, hastened to New York yesterday, when the plan struck the snag of eastern opposition notably on the New York Central lines which form one of the big systems included among those expected to accept the settlement plan.

The situation on the New York Central lines was caused, it was explained by demands of strikers in addition to the original peace terms. Similar demands prevented settlement on the Southern Railway.

Precautions were taken at the C. & N. Y. and Northwestern shops to prevent a recurrence of Saturday disorders.

Railroads which refused to enter the Baltimore agreement insisted today that they are daily increasing the number of new employees and that conditions are steadily improving.

Hearing on the Daugherty injunction was resumed in Judge Wilkeson's court today with only four days remaining before the expiration of the temporary restraining order, Sept. 21.

Chairman Chandler of the local federation denied that a great many had applied for work, but stated that as far as is known, no one has deserted the ranks of the strikers to seek work at the shops.

Consignments of 100,000 trout eggs have been shipped successfully from the bureau of fisheries in Washington to the Swiss government at Berne.

Shootings in Various Parts of Dublin

DUBLIN, Sept. 18. (By the Associated Press).—There was much shooting in various parts of the city last night. Offices of the Irish Independent guarded by Free State troops were attacked. Republican invaded Oriel House, the offices of the criminal investigation department, killing a detective. Two men refused to halt when challenged by Free State troops and opened fire on the soldiers. A motor truck which arrived was attacked by other armed men in the vicinity. A lieutenant and sergeant of the Free State forces were wounded, and one irregular was killed and two captured.

Extraordinary Sale of Farm Property at Public Auction

On Next Wednesday, the 20th Day of September, 1922 At 4 O'Clock in the Afternoon THE EDGEWOOD OR SKILTON FARM, ON SKILTON LANE, IN BURLINGTON, MASS., IS HEREBY PLEDGED TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDER.

The farm consists of 53 acres of exceptional land, main residence, help house, four pig-houses, wash house for vegetables, barn, pump house, hen house, etc.

The main residence has nine rooms, bathroom, hot and cold water, steam heat and electric lights, hardwood floors, open verandas, and is practically new. The help house has seven rooms and is in very good order. There are also a small and big barn, a pump house, a wash house, a windmill and pump house and has water tank with a capacity of 5000 gallons. The farm is especially equipped for hog raising and has been conducted as a hog farm for many years, having an established business in this particular line, and its equipment being complete to carry on this business gives to the premises a much added value. The farm is supplied with 250 Baldwin apple trees in good bearing condition, and has a wood lot of sufficient size to care for its needs.

The location of the premises on the main state highway between Lowell and Boston, in the town of Burlington, 3 1/2 miles from the city of Woburn, 15 miles from the city of Boston and about eleven miles from Lowell, makes it extremely attractive owing to its accessibility to these particular markets. The farm is also located on the main state highway, a distance of about 200 yards from the corner of the state road, so-called, leading from Woburn to Burlington, and is the third road from the well-known T. I. Reed Farm Works, in Burlington, on the left of the state highway going from Burlington to Boston.

The location of the above farm and its appointments should especially attract buyers of farm properties who are desirous of securing a high grade, well established farm property. The buildings are of the highest grade of construction. The various outbuildings, such as pigsties (four in number), three built on the latest design for such use. The help house is convenient, the barn substantial and roomy, and the farm, in addition to being adapted for big production can be and is conducted on a very large scale for the raising of vegetables and milk, has a large, open pasture for its stock, and its area will warrant the conduct of the farm for general farm purposes.

Terms—$1000 must be deposited with the auctioneer, just as soon as struck off. Other terms made known at sale. By Order of JOHN J. HARVEY, Attorney.
